CHIEFS OWNER

LAMAR HUNT

Lamar Hunt was just a few days shy of 27 years old when he and a group of men—later to be known as the "Foolish Club"—made the announcement that they were forming a new pro football league.

On that occasion, the American Football League was born and, this season, Hunt and his Kansas City Chiefs team join the seven other original franchises in celebrating the league's 25th anniversary.

The old AFL is no more, merging with the National Football League in 1969 and becoming a viable figure in formulating America's No. 1 sport. But, the memories remain for Hunt, who has been a dynamic force in bringing the NFL and pro football into world-wide prominence. The current president of the AFC, charter member of the old AFL and founder of the league has been a unique architect in the development of the game since 1960.

"If I knew then what I know now, I would be on the beach at Waikiki and not involved in a league," Hunt recalled laughingly as he began his 25th season in the pro football business this year. "It was," he explained to a reporter, "a different time and a different era . . . If you asked me how I wanted to spend the next 25 years, I'd do this again in a minute. It's been a terrific experience. I hope I can stay in football the rest of my life."

Hunt remains a 100 percent owner of the Kansas City Chiefs and it is rather fitting that, on this 25th anniversary of the AFL, a new honor is being bestowed on him by all of the National Football League. Starting with the 1984 season, the AFC Championship trophy and game will be named after Lamar Hunt in tribute to his persistence and dedication in carrying out a dream.

Indicative of his stature within the game is the fact that he was the first AFL figure to be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. That honor was bestowed on Hunt in the summer of 1972 when, at the enshrinement ceremonies in Canton, Hunt's good friend Billy Sullivan, himself an original AFL franchise owner with the Boston Patriots, described the Chiefs owner as the "architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream."

A decade later, Hunt joined Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry in receiving the NFL Alumni Association's highest award—the Order of the Leather Helmet—for his dedication and service to pro football. Last summer, Hunt was inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Hunt's initial venture into organized sports,was as a player. He was a reserve end at Southern Methodist University. Of his brief collegiate playing career, Hunt once quipped: "Fortunately, I didn't drop any passes because none were ever thrown at the end of the bench."

Hunt continues to be a prominent pro football leader and his ventures in Kansas City involve more than just the Chiefs. First there were improvements the Chiefs funded during the construction of Arrowhead Stadium in 1972. Hunt then developed a multi-million-dollar, Kansas City area recreation park, Worlds of Fun, and three years ago opened a new theme park in the area, Oceans of Fun. He also owns Hunt Midwest Enterprises, Inc., and Mid-America Enterprises, Inc., development and real estate companies in Kansas City.

A sportsman in the true sense of the word—and jogger and tennis player, Hunt is also involved in several other sports ventures. He organized and coordinated the formation and development of World Championship Tennis. He is involved with the North American Soccer League and is one of the founding owners of the NBA's Chicago Bulls.

In addition to his numerous business commitments, Hunt is active as a member of the board of directors of NFL Charities and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Hunt and his wife, Norma, have four children, Lamar Jr., Sharron, Clark and Daniel. The Hunt's reside in Dallas, Texas.

CHIEFS PRESIDENT

JACK STEADMAN

As the old American Football League celebrates its 25th anniversary in this 1984 season, it carries special meaning for Jack Steadman, the president of the Kansas City Chiefs. The franchise, which first began in Dallas as the Dallas Texans, has been under the guidance of Steadman since the first season of 1960.

At the request of owner Lamar Hunt, Steadman accepted the general manager assignment of the Texans at the midway point of their first AFL season and has guided the administration of the organization ever since. Like the old AFL, Steadman celebrates his 25th year in professional football and his 22nd season as the chief executive officer of the Chiefs.

He begins the 1984 season with the same determination and dedication he has carried throughout his pro football career—"to build this franchise into the finest organization and championship-caliber football team in pro football history." It is, and always will be, Steadman's No. 1 priority.

A recognized leader among pro football administrators, Steadman has structured the Chiefs organization to meet the challenge brought about by the growth of the business of pro football over the years.

As the Chiefs begin their 22nd season in Kansas City and their 13th season in magnificent Arrowhead Stadium, Steadman can look with pride at the list of football and administrative accomplishments the organization has achieved since moving from Dallas for the beginning of the 1963 season in the old American Football League.

It was Steadman who conceived the idea of Kansas City building the dual Harry S. Truman Sports Complex, which houses the Chiefs in 78,000-seat Arrowhead and the baseball Royals in the 42,000-seat Royals Stadium. Combined, this complex is recognized as the finest of its kind in the world.

Steadman has been a constant innovator since entering pro football and many of his ideas and developments have been duplicated throughout the NFL. Some of these creative ideas include a ticket-by-telephone system for enhancing area-wide sales, a unique seat relocation program for season ticket holders, a reserved parking plan for Arrowhead and numerous other ticket and marketing programs.

Steadman was promoted from general manager to executive vice president and general manager in 1966 and, in August of 1976, was named president of the Chiefs in charge of all operations.

In addition to serving as president of the Chiefs, Steadman also is president of Hunt Midwest Enterprises, Inc.; chairman of Mid-America Enterprises, Inc., which owns Worlds of Fun and Oceans of Fun, multi-million dollar family recreation theme parks in the Kansas City area; and chairman of Great Midwest Corporation, a real estate, limestone rock mining, and underground development firm in the Kansas City International Trade Zone. He also serves on the board of directors of Commerce Bank and is the chairman of the NFL front office and coaches pension plan committee.

Actively involved in the community and civic projects since arriving in Kansas City, Steadman has accepted two major civic assignments this year. He serves as president of Starlight Theatre Association and is currently the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City. He revamped and reorganized Starlight's summer theatre series and, with the chamber, is tackling an immense assignment to help rebuild and refurbish downtown Kansas City. In addition to these two assignments, Steadman is a member of the board of directors of the Civic Council of greater Kansas City, the board of directors of the Kansas City Area Economic Development Council, the board of directors of the American Royal Association, an advisory trustee of Research Medical Center and a trustee of Midwest Research Institute.

Jack and his wife, Martha, live in Mission Hills, Kansas.

CHIEFS GENERAL MANAGER

JIM SCHAAF

Jim Schaaf, the Chiefs 46-year-old general manager, begins his 19th season with the team in a career that has covered virtually all areas of the club's operation. Schaaf joined the Chiefs in 1966 as director of public relations following five years association with the Kansas City Athletics baseball club. He was elevated to assistant general manager in January, 1968, and to vice president in July, 1974.

Schaaf was named to his present position in August of 1976. Following Lamar Hunt's elevation of Jack Steadman to president, Steadman instituted a reorganization of the club's front office that resulted in Schaaf's being named vice president and general manager. In January, 1978, Steadman delegated to Schaaf full responsibility in the areas of player personnel and overall team operations. In that assignment, he works closely with head coach John Mackovic and player personnel director Les Miller and their staffs in the day-to-day responsibility of player personnel and football team areas of operation.

"Jim has all the qualities you look for in a general manager," says Steadman. "He is dedicated, aggressive, intelligent, thorough and highly motivated to succeed. In the last couple years, we have shown substantial progress in all team-related areas of operation. This has been due in no small way to Jim's dedication and leadership. He is now being recognized as one of the most outstanding general managers in pro football."

Schaaf's duties in the past included supervision of Chiefs day-to-day operations and the promotion of special events. Schaaf held several front office positions with the Athletics and was their director of publicity and promotions when he joined the Chiefs.

Schaaf was born May 22, 1938, in Erie, Pennsylvania. He attended Cathedral Preparatory School in Erie, then moved on to Notre Dame, where he earned a bachelor's degree in economics. He played three years of football for the Fighting Irish, two as a starter, at guard from 1956-58. He and his wife, Julie, have two children, Jill Marie, 20, and James, 16. The family lives in Overland Park.

CHIEFS HEAD COACH

"We're much closer to where we're trying to go than we were at this time last year. We have identified where we're going, but we've got to get down to the nuts and bolts of getting it done."

JOHN MACKOVIC

The words came from John Mackovic as he began Year II as the head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs with the same confidence and positive attitude that he began his journey in Kansas City in February of 1983.

As a brand new head coach in the NFL, Mackovic, with only two years of assistant coaching experience in pro football with the Dallas Cowboys, took over a Chiefs team submerged in mediocrity and void of a playoff berth in the last 12 seasons. Immediately, this young head coach began to tackle the problems of a sagging offensive attack that finished 25th in the NFL in 1982 and was guided by platooning quarterbacks from game to game, making consistency in the offense nearly impossible.

He immediately declared his team would have a No. 1 quarterback by the beginning of the regular season and that the offensive charge would be generated by a wide open passing attack that "could throw the ball 40 times a game." After drafting Penn State's National Championship quarterback Todd Blackledge in the first round to solidify the quarterback position, Mackovic did just what he said he would do in rennovating the Chiefs offense in the '83 season. He selected veteran quarterback Bill Kenney to run the passing attack, which averaged just a shade over 40 passes per game in the regular season, and vaulted the Chiefs to the ninth position in total offense and wound up with the third best passing attack in the NFL.

It was a remarkable transition for the Chiefs offense in Mackovic's first season. The 6-10 finish was a disappointment in terms of wins and losses, yet five of the 10 defeats were measured by three points or less while a sixth was only by five points.

"For the most part," said Mackovic, "the team made a concentrated effort to try to do things the way I asked them to do it. For that, I cannot say we have not gained considerable ground. Now we have to make the next step forward."

Consistency, better physical durability, thinking more on a "team" concept basis and a stronger running game will be the watchwords for Mackovic's Chiefs in his second season as they make their bid to become a bonified and consistent playoff contender.

Mackovic, who will be 41 years old in October, spent two seasons as the quarterback coach for the Dallas Cowboys before joining the Chiefs in February of 1983. At Dallas, in 1981 and 1982, Mackovic was instrumental in developing quarterback Danny White, who earned two consecutive Pro Bowl appearances in that stretch. Prior to joining Tom Landry's staff at Dallas, Mackovic was the head coach at Wake Forest, his alma mater, from 1978-80. He turned a sagging program at Wake Forest around, guiding the Deacons to their first post-season bowl appearance in 30 years. Inheriting a program which had won only 13 games in the previous six years, Mackovic's Wake Forest team finished 1-10 in 1978. Then, the next season, he coached the Deacons to an 8-3 record, a spot in the national rankings for the first time in the school's history and earned an invitation to the Tangerine Bowl. That bowl appearance marked the first post-season game for the Deacons since 1949.

In 1980, Mackovic's Wake Forest team compiled a 5-6 record, losing four of the games by a combined total of seven points. His three-year head coaching record at Wake Forest was 14-20, but even more important, he earned the reputation for producing a wide-open, multiple offensive attack and building solid foundations for sagging programs. He gave up a head coaching position to join Landry's staff at Dallas and learn the intricacies of pro football in a rapid climb to an NFL head coaching position.

An excellent speaker and motivator, Mackovic is a goal-oriented individual who believes in setting a direction for himself and his team. He asks his players to make year around commitment to the community as well as the team. "It's not a matter of proving who's right and who's wrong, but how we best can put our product on the field and do the very best job we can of not only winning football games, but being the type of organization that would represent the city of Kansas City as well as possible."

The first year for a head coach almost always is a transitional year and, with Mackovic, this proved true. Despite the record, there were positive signs that point toward a successful future.

"The system or organization has to take into account that you're working with many different individuals," said Mackovic at the conclusion of his first head coaching season in the NFL. "But, I also think that everyone has to have an appreciation for how you are going to do things. And again, if I would look at the overall team and how the team accepted what we were doing plus why we were doing it, and their cooperative efforts to make some changes that were significantly different from what they'd been accustomed to over the last couple of years, they did as good a job as I could ask for in almost all of these respects."

The offense, under Mackovic's direction, certainly provided Kansas City fans with a completely different look than they were accustomed to over the past few seasons. The Chiefs, with their wide-open passing barage, proved they could strike from any place on the field with an exciting offense that was remarkably refined for a transition year. The Mackovic label and influence showed its colors early as the Chiefs threw more times and for more yards than any team in the franchise's 24-year history. It also proved that Mackovic could not only define the problems, but solve many of them as well.

The foundations for Mackovic's early success in coaching came from 13 years of assistant coaching experience in the college and high school ranks. Mackovic served as an assistant coach at Purdue, Arizona, San Jose State and Army before he returned to Wake Forest to become the school's head coach. As an assistant coach, he was in charge of the offense at all four schools and was named an assistant head coach at Arizona and Purdue the five seasons before taking over at Wake Forest.

Mackovic began his coaching career after receiving his B.A. degree in Spanish from Wake Forest in 1965. He entered graduate school at Miami of Ohio and served as a graduate assistant under Bo Schembechler, earning a master's degree in secondary education from Miami in 1966. He returned to his prep alma mater, Barberton High School (Barberton, Ohio) in 1966 as an assistant coach in charge of the offensive backfield. The following year he was commissioned in the Army, reaching the ranks of first lieutenant and coaching West Point's freshman team prior to his March 1969 discharge. That same year, he began a two-year stint as offensive coordinator at San Jose State. He then returned to West Point in 1971 and spent two years as Army's offensive backfield coach. In 1973, he joined Jim Young's staff at Arizona as offensive coordinator. He then followed Young to Purdue in 1977 to again handle the offense.

As a collegian at Wake Forest, Mackovic enjoyed a successful career as the Deacons' quarterback from 1962-64. He was the school's sixth-leading all-time passer, compiling 1,950 yards in three seasons. As a senior, he led the ACC in total offense, was a second team All-ACC selection and a first-team All-ACC Academic honoree. He was voted the team's most inspirational player in his senior season. He was a teammate and a roommate of the late Brian Piccolo during his collegiate playing days.

Mackovic is an avid golfer and spends much of his off-season leisure time on the courses around Kansas City. He met his wife, Arlene, while coaching at San Jose State. The Mackovic family includes two children, Aimee, 9 years, and John, 7 years. The family resides in Mission, Kansas.

CHIEFS COACHING STAFF

BUD CARSON, Def. Coord. & Def. Backs

A defensive mastermind who was first recognized for orchestrating the Pittsburgh Steelers famous "Steel Curtain" defense in the mid-70's, Bud Carson will serve his second season as the Chiefs defensive coordinator and defensive backfield coach. For Carson it will be his 13th season in the NFL. Nine of those seasons have been playoff years with three Super Bowl appearances.

One of six coaches on the Chiefs staff who has had head coaching experience, Carson was the head man at Georgia Tech for five seasons (1967-71). While at Tech, Carson's Yellow Jackets compiled a 27-27 record with one of the most difficult schedules in the nation and, in his final two seasons, made appearances in the Sun and Peach Bowls.

But, it was in the professional ranks where Carson began to make his mark and reputation in the coaching field. He was hired by Chuck Noll in 1972 to coach the defensive backfield, assumed the defensive coordinator position midway through that season and began building one of the most dominating defenses in the history of the league. Through the next six seasons, while he was with the Steelers, Carson shared in six playoff seasons and two Super Bowl victories (IX and X) before moving on to the Los Angeles Rams. He served as George Allen's defensive backfield coach in 1978 and then became defensive coordinator the following season, where he stayed through 1981. His defense helped the Rams gain a berth in Super Bowl XIV in 1979. In 1982, Carson became the defensive coordinator for the Baltimore Colts.

A native of Brackenridge, Pa., the 52-year-old Carson was an All-Southern Conference defensive back at North Carolina for three years. Full name: Leon H. "Bud" Carson. Wife: Linda. Children: Dana (25), Cliff (24), Gary (23), Cathy (8).

WALT COREY, Defensive Line

Walt Corey represents a nostalgic Chiefs history to John Mackovic's coaching crew. Corey has served as both a player and an assistant coach for the Chiefs.

This season, he begins his 11th year as a Chiefs assistant, coaching the defensive line for the second consecutive year. One of two coaches retained by Mackovic last year, Corey spent two previous terms with the Chiefs as an assistant, first with Hank Stram as the defensive line coach from 1971-74 and then as the defensive line and defensive backfield coach for Marv Levy from 1978-82.

The first appointee on Mackovic's staff, Corey possesses a wealth of defensive knowledge, having coached all phases of the defense in the professional ranks and having played as a linebacker in professional football for the Dallas Texans and Chiefs from 1960 through 1966.

Corey was an outstanding football player at the University of Miami before joining the original Dallas Texans in the first year of the American Football League in 1960. He was a starting linebacker in the Texans 1962 AFL championship game and played for the Chiefs in Super Bowl I following the 1966 season.

He entered the collegiate coaching ranks in 1967 before joining Stram's Chiefs coaching staff in 1971. In between his Chiefs coaching stints, Corey was the linebacker coach for the Cleveland Browns from 1975-77. The 46-year-old Corey is a native of Latrobe, Pa., and attended high school at Derry (Pa.) H.S. Full name: Walter M. Corey. Wife: Jane. Children: Carla (17), Mark (16).

DAN DANIEL, Inside Linebackers

Responsible for the middle of the Chiefs defense as inside linebackers coach, Clarence "Dan" Daniel enters his second year on John Mackovic's staff.

He joined the Chiefs in 1983 after a five-year coaching reign in the CFL with the Edmonton Eskimos and the Calgary Stampeders, both as defensive coordinator. He was recognized in the CFL as one of the most innovative defensive coaches in the league. While at Edmonton (1978-81), Daniel's defense led the Eskimos to four consecutive Grey Cup titles and as the defensive coordinator at Calgary, the Stampeders jumped from fifth place in '81 to second place and a playoff berth in '82 with a devastating defense.

Daniel carries a wealth of experience as an assistant coach in the collegiate ranks where he spent 16 years at five different institutions, starting with the University of Wyoming in 1962. He was the defensive coordinator at MacAlester College (Minn.), Colorado State and the University of Houston and an assistant coach at the U.S. Naval Academy before heading for the two CFL coaching assignments.

Daniel also coached for seven years on the high school level following his graduation from Huron College in his native Huron, South Dakota.

The 51-year-old Daniel attended Huron High School. Full name: Clarence A. "Dan" Daniel. Wife: Wendy. Children: Carly (10), Chelsey (2); four children from previous marriage: Dale (28), Denise (27), Dirk (24), Darci (18).

DOUG GRABER, Def. Backs & Quality Control

Another Chiefs assistant coach who has collegiate head coaching experience, Doug Graber works with many phases of the team's defense. In his second year with the Chiefs, Graber assists defensive coordinator Bud Carson with the defensive secondary and also serves as the quality control coach of the defense.

Graber joined the Chiefs staff after completing a most successful campaign as the Montana State Bobcats head coach in 1982. Graber guided Montana State from seventh place in the Big Sky Conference in 1981 to a tie for the conference crown in '82 with a 6-5 overall mark and a 5-2 league record.

A football and golf star at Wayne State University, Graber earned a master's degree in education at Northern Michigan. His overall coaching career started in his native Detroit at St. Francis Cabrini High School.

Graber then entered the collegiate coaching ranks in 1969, taking over the defensive coordinating at Michigan Tech. He developed the league's top defense all three years at Tech and moved on to Eastern Michigan as the defensive coordinator from 1972-75. In 1976, Graber was hired by Dave McClain at Ball State as the defensive backfield coach and recruiting coordinator. He moved with McClain to Wisconsin in 1978 as the Badgers defensive backfield coach and spent four years there developing one of the Big Ten's top secondaries. He also was the academic and recruiting coordinator at Wisconsin.

The 40-year-old Graber spends much of his time evaluating the Chiefs defensive tendencies throughout the season in addition to helping coach the defensive secondary. Graber attended St. Agatha High School in Detroit. Full name: Douglas Gary Graber. Wife: Faye. Children: Joe (9), J.J. (7).

J.D. HELM, Off. Asst. & Quality Control

Helm works closely with head coach John Mackovic in evaluating the Chiefs offense and coordinating other team assignments. In his second year as a general offensive assistant and quality control coach, Helm begins his third season as a Chiefs assistant coach and his 10th year with the organization.

After spending seven years on the Chiefs player personnel staff both as a scout and as the assistant director of player personnel, Helm joined the Chiefs coaching staff in 1982 under Marv Levy as offensive backs coach. He was one of two coaches from that staff retained by Mackovic in '83.

Mackovic first became associated with Helm when they coached against each other in the WAC. Helm as an assistant at BYU and Mackovic as an assistant at Arizona.

A football and track standout at the University of Kansas, Helm has coached on the high school, college and professional levels in addition to owning a great wealth of experience in personnel scouting. He began his coaching career at his alma mater, Kansas, as a graduate assistant and then moved on to an assistant coaching and teaching position at Shawnee Mission East High School in suburban Kansas City.

Helm moved into college coaching in 1968 at Brigham Young University and, for seven seasons, was instrumental in helping develop the Cougars wide open and nationally famous offensive attack. During his stint with BYU, Helm coached all phases of the offense.

A native of Marceline (Mo.), the 43-year-old Helm attended El Dorado Springs (Mo.) High School and was recognized as one of the state's outstanding football players. Full name: J.D. Helm. Wife: Elizabeth. Children: Heather (14), Lisa (11), Erin (9), Adam (7).

C.T. HEWGLEY, Linemen, Strength & Cond.

Hewgley serves a dual role in his capacity as a Chiefs assistant coach, his first assignment in professional football.

Entering his second year with the Chiefs, Hewgley coordinates the team's strength and conditioning program and, in addition, works with offensive line coach Rod Humenuik and defensive line coach Walt Corey. Prior to his first season, Hewgley helped organize the final stages of construction of the Chiefs new weight and conditioning area at Arrowhead.

A combat veteran of World War II, Korea and Vietnam, Hewgley did not begin his coaching career until the age of 43, following two stints in the U.S. Army. He spent 17 years in the service, making it a career until retiring in 1968 and then starting his coaching career.

A graduate of the University of Wyoming where he was an All-America tackle in 1950, Hewgley began his coaching career as the freshman coach and recruiting coordinator at Miami (Fla.) from 1968-70. He returned to his alma mater as the line coach from 1971-73 and then became the head coach at the University of Nebraska-Omaha in 1974.

Hewgley then spent seven years as an assistant coach under Darryl Rogers at Arizona State and Michigan State.

A native of Nashville, Tenn., the 59-year-old Hewgley attended East Nashville High School. Full name: C.T. Hewgley. Wife: Julia.

ROD HUMENUIK, Off. Line & Running Game

Recognized throughout professional football as one of the outstanding offensive line coaches in the business, Rod Humenuik begins his second year on the Chiefs coaching staff.

In his first season, the Chiefs offensive line reduced its sacks-per-pass attempts ratio in half from the previous year.

In addition to tutoring the team's offensive linemen, Humenuik's other responsibilities include organizing the offensive game plans for the running game as well as being in charge of all pass protection schemes.

A head coach at California State-Northridge for two seasons, Humenuik came to the Chiefs in 1982 after 18 years of coaching experience in college, CFL and the NFL.

Humenuik served as the offensive line coach of the Cleveland Browns from 1975-82, where he assembled one of the league's finest offensive lines, which has produced AFC Pro Bowlers Tom DeLeone and Doug Dieken. Prior to his tenure at Cleveland, Humenuik spent two seasons (1973-74) as the offensive line coach of the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL. His college coaching career, in addition to Cal State Northridge, includes assistant assignments at Fullerton Junior College for one season and at USC, under John McKay, for five years. During his five-year stint at USC, the Trojans made four appearances as the conference representative in the Rose Bowl.

A standout guard for the USC Trojans from 1956-58, Humenuik earned a master's degree in education from USC and then played for three seasons under Bud Grant for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the CFL.

The 46-year-old Humenuik attended Los Angeles High school. Full name: Rod Humenuik. Wife: Susie. Children: Kim (24), Kerry (22), Kelly (19), Michael (16).

PETE McCULLEY, Quarterbacks

Regarded as one of the best teaching technicians of quarterbacks and receivers in the game today, Pete McCulley's coaching assignment with the Chiefs is with the quarterbacks.

He worked closely with Chiefs quarterbacks Bill Kenney and Todd Blackledge in his first year in Kansas City, helping Kenney improve from a part-time starter to a Pro Bowl participant.

The head coach of the San Francisco 49ers for nine games during the 1978 season, McCulley has been instrumental in organizing the passing attacks of the New York Jets, Washington Redskins and Baltimore Colts in the 10 seasons prior to joining the Chiefs. He came to Kansas City from New York, where he served as the Jets receivers coach in 1979, '81 and '82 and worked with the quarterbacks in '80. His first two stops in the NFL were assistant assignments with the Baltimore Colts for four seasons (1973-76) and the Washington Redskins for one season (1977). The passing game was a specific assignment in each case, also.

In addition to his 11 years in NFL coaching, McCulley has 14 years of experience in the collegiate coaching ranks, beginning with Stephen F. Austin State College in 1959. He spent one year there, three years on the University of Houston staff, seven years with Baylor University and three years with the U.S. Naval Academy.

A native of Franklin County, Miss., the 52-year-old McCulley was an all-Conference quarterback at Louisiana Tech, graduating in 1956. He attended Istrouma High School in Baton Rouge, La. Full name: Pete McCulley. Wife: Nettie Jean. Children: Kit (27), Kim (26).

WILLIE PEETE, Offensive Backs

A longtime friend of head coach John Mackovic, Willie Peete became the Chiefs running backs coach in 1983 when the former accepted Kansas City's top post.

For Peete, joining the Chiefs marked his first professional football job and ended a long association at the University of Arizona, where he coached on the same staff as Mackovic in the early 70's.

Arizona was more than a coaching position for Peete. He spent 12 years there as an assistant coach for the Wildcats. Peete was born and raised in nearby Mesa, Ariz., matriculated to the University of Arizona and became a two-sport standout in football, as a wide receiver, and baseball, in his senior year.

The Chiefs assignment marked just the second move for Peete in his coaching career. He started his coaching duties at the Tucson campus as a graduate assistant while finishing studies for his B.S. degree in physical education. He returned to his hometown of Mesa in 1963 and was an assistant coach at Mesa H.S. in football and track, then moved to a new high school, Westwood, where he served as an assistant in football and the junior varsity basketball coach for seven years. During that time, Peete earned his master's degree in secondary education from Arizona State. He rejoined the Arizona staff as a fulltime assistant coach, working for four different head coaches. In that span he coached outside linebackers, receivers, tackles and tight ends, receivers and running backs, plus helped coordinate recruiting.

Peete is 47 years old. Full name: Willie Peete, Jr. Wife: Edna. Children: Willie Peete III (21), Rodney Peete (18).

JIM VECHIARELLA, Linebackers & Special Teams

Carrying the load of two coaching assignments, Jim Vechiarella begins his second season with the Chiefs as tutor of the outside linebackers and special teams. It will mark the 26th year of his coaching career, which includes high school, college, the World Football League and the NFL.

Prior to joining the Chiefs staff, Vechiarella spent two seasons with the Los Angeles Rams, first coaching the special teams in 1981 and then handling the defensive secondary in '82.

Defense has been Vechiarella's specialty in coaching throughout his career since he graduated as a four-year defensive standout for Youngstown State University in 1958. He began coaching in high school, spending a combined six years at two Ohio prep schools—Poland and Rayen, his alma mater in Youngstown.

He joined the Youngstown State coaching staff after that and worked 11 years as an assistant, most of that time as the defensive coordinator.

In 1975, Vechiarella moved into the brand new WFL as a defensive line coach with Charlotte and, when the league folded, he moved back into the college ranks as the defensive coordinator at Southern Illinois. He spent two years at Southern Illinois before joining Vince Gibson's staff at Tulane, handling the defensive coordinating for the Green Wave from 1978-80.

RICHARD WILLIAMSON, Receivers

Williamson molded together one of the most productive receiving corps in the NFL in '83, his first year with the Chiefs. It marked a return to coaching for Williamson, who joined John Mackovic as the receivers coach in '83 and helped change the Chiefs into a pass-oriented offense.

Spending 12 years in the collegiate coaching ranks, both as head coach and as an assistant, Williamson left coaching after the 1980 season to enter private business in 1981 and then in '82 accepted the position as the executive director of the prestigious Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, Texas.

The 43-year-old Williamson was head coach at Memphis State from 1975-80, compiling a 31-35 record in those six campaigns with an independent football school that annually plays one of the toughest schedules in the NCAA. He guided the Tigers to consecutive 7-4 records in his first two seasons and was named Southern Independent Coach of the Year in 1976. He twice was selected to coach in the Blue-Gray All-Star Game (1976 & 1977).

Williamson worked as an assistant coach under two college football coaching legends—the late Paul "Bear" Bryant at Alabama and Frank Broyles at Arkansas. He played for Bryant at Alabama, earning All-Southeastern Conference honors as a wide receiver and has the distinction of being the individual who caught sophomore Joe Namath's first collegiate touchdown pass in 1962.

Under Bryant, Williamson coached the Tide's wide receivers in 1963-67 then returned to Alabama to take over the defensive end coaching position in 1970 & '71. In between, he joined Broyles' Arkansas coaching staff to coach the receivers in 1968 & '69 and then returned again to Arkansas to handle the offensive backs from 1972-74. It was in 1975 when he was named the Memphis State head coach.

A native of Fort Deposit, Ala., Williamson attended Lowndes County High School in Fort Deposit. Full name: Richard Williamson. Wife: Norma. Children: Rich (19), Caroline (17).

JON PHILLIPS, Equipment Coordinator

The multi-dutied Jon Phillips is a valuable member of John Mackovic's staff as he begins his second year with the Chiefs.

In addition to the time-consuming chore of coordinating the team's equipment, Phillips also is in charge of the Chiefs travel arrangements and training camp plans.

A graduate of Syracuse University, the 44-year-old Phillips had been associated with college athletics for 13 years as the equipment manager at Syracuse and Michigan State University before joining the Chiefs staff. He spent 10 years at his alma mater, Syracuse, NY. Phillips began working in college athletics when he graduated from Syracuse University.

In 1980, Phillips was selected equipment manager of the year by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association and served as the association's Executive Director.

Phillips' assistant is Jeff Hiller, who also joined the Chiefs staff in '82. A native of Iowa, Hiller spent four years as a student equipment manager at Arizona State University before coming to Kansas City.

DAVE KENDALL, Trainer

The Chiefs assistant trainer the past nine years, Dave Kendall assumes the training duties of Wayne Rudy, who retired after the 1983 season. Kendall becomes just the second trainer in franchise history, as Rudy had been with the club since its inception in 1960.

The 33-year-old Kendall graduated from Kansas State College at Pittsburg with a degree in physical education. He served as assistant trainer at Pittsburg State before joining the Chiefs staff in 1975.

A graduate of Wyandotte High School in Kansas City, Kendall is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association. Dave and his wife, Jackie, live in Blue Springs.

Kendall's assistant is Bud Epps, who is in his first season with the Chiefs. The 30-year-old Epps has been an assistant trainer at the University of Missouri the past eight years. His duties at Missouri included being the head trainer for Norm Stewart's basketball team.

PLAYER PERSONNEL STAFF

LES MILLER

For the 10th year, the Chiefs procurement of players, via the draft, waiver and free agent route, is the responsibility of player personnel director Les Miller.

Miller has directed the last nine Chiefs drafts and came to the club after serving three seasons under current Washington general manager Bobby Beathard on the Miami Dolphins scouting staff. In addition to his four full-time scouts, Miller also receives information from the National scouting combine, which the Chiefs joined in 1981 following six years association with BLESTO.

The 46-year-old Miller is a native of Bernice, Oklahoma. He attended Oklahoma State University, then graduated from Kansas State College at Pittsburg with an education degree in 1958. For the next 13 years, Les coached at the high school and college level. He was the head football, basketball and baseball coach at Afton (Okla.) High School from 1958-60 and then coached baseball and football at two Tulsa high schools before accepting a position in private business.

Miller returned to coaching in 1967 as head football coach at Joplin (Mo.) High School. After two seasons, he was named an assistant coach at Brigham Young University in charge of offensive backs until the Dolphins named him to their scouting staff in 1972.

An avid baseball fan, Miller spent two seasons, 1954-55, as a third baseman and outfielder in the New York Yankees farm system.

Les and his wife Joyce have four children: Mike, 28, Debbie, 26, Marty, 15, and Matt, 12. The Millers live in Overland Park.

TOMMY O'BOYLE, Talent Scout

After 18 years with the Chiefs organization, Tommy O'Boyle is limiting his duties in 1984. He will serve as a part-time talent scout after working full-time in that capacity since 1975. He first joined the Chiefs in 1966 as a scout and assistant coach under Hank Stram.

O'Boyle was an All-America performer at Tulane and a No. 1 draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1940. Rather than playing pro ball, he began his coaching career that included assistantships at Kansas State, Duke, Miami (Fla.) and Tulane, plus head posts at Southwest Missouri State and Tulane.

Tommy and his wife, Rose Mary, are the parents of five children.

BOBBY GILL, Talent Scout

A talent scout with the Chiefs since Les Miller reorganized the scouting department in 1975, Bobby Gill enters his 10th year with the club.

The 47-year-old Gill attended Baylor University in his hometown of Waco, Texas and is a veteran coach in the college ranks. He began his coaching career at Ouachita Baptist in 1958. His next stop was Houston, where he coached uner Bill Yeoman from 1962-66.

In 1967, he was named offensive coordinator at Tulsa. New Mexico State hired him, again as offensive coordinator, in 1969, and Gill was with the Aggies through the '71 season. Gill coached at Texas El Paso in 1972-73 and spent the 1974 season with the Detroit Wheels of the WFL.

Bobby and his wife, Barbara, live in Overland Park. Barbara is the women's basketball coach at Johnson County Community College.

OTIS TAYLOR, Talent Scout

The all-time leading receiver in Chiefs history, Otis Taylor begins his seventh year on the player personnel staff.

Taylor's outstanding play at wide receiver in the 1960s and 70s helped the Chiefs get into two NFL Super bowls. His lifetime 410 receptions, 7,306 yards receiving and 60 touchdowns all still stand as club records.

The 41-year-old Taylor was Kansas City's fourth round draft choice in 1965 from Prairie View. The former All-America was the Chiefs leading receiver in five of his 10 seasons. He was selected to play in the first three AFC-NFC Pro Bowl Games.

In 1982, Taylor received the distinguished honor of being inducted into the Chiefs Hall of Fame. He currently resides in Kansas City.

RICK REIPRISH, Talent Scout

A former pro football combine scout, Rick Reiprish begins his third year in the Chiefs player personnel department.

Reiprish joined the Chiefs staff in 1982 after spending three years at the Blesto, Inc., scouting combine, where he was in charge of a six-state area in southeastern United States.

Prior to that, Reiprish was an assistant coach for six years in the collegiate ranks. While finishing up his master's degree in administration from Austin Peay, he coached wide receivers in 1973 and running backs from 1974-76. He became the offensive backfield and quarterback coach at East Tennessee State in '77, then moved to North Alabama, where he tutored the offensive line in '78.

A native of Shamokin, Pa., the 33-year-old Reiprish and his wife, Janet, have a four-year-old son, Drew.

GREG MOHNS, Talent Scout

The latest addition to Les Miller's scouting staff is Greg Mohns, who is in his second year with the Chiefs. Mohns came to Kansas City in July of 1983 from the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, where he had been the recruiting coordinator and defensive line coach for one year.

The 34-year-old Mohns is a native of Pasadena, Calif., but grew up in the Kansas City area and attended Lee's Summit H.S. His collegiate playing career as an offensive tackle began at Bradley University and ended at Baker University in Baldwin City, Kan.

He has spent nine years as an assistant coach on the college level, plus two years as a head coach at Ventura Junior College, and was involved in the recruiting program all 11 years.

His assistant jobs were at Oklahoma State (1972-76 under Jim Stanley) and Arizona State (1977-79 under Frank Kush).

Greg and his wife, Amy, have a three-year-old son, Jason.

Set the Chiefs season record for number of punts in 1983 as a rookie, punting 93 times to break Bob Grupp's 1979 mark of 89 . . . His 93 punts were the most in the AFC last year and second in the NFL next to Tampa Bay's Frank Garcia, who had 95 . . . Finished the season with a 39.9 punting average, which ranked 10th in the AFC, and with a 32.6 net average, which ranked 14th in the conference . . . Was inconsistent throughout his rookie campaign, but displayed a powerful leg at times, registering 18 punts over 50 yards and four punts of 60 yards or more . . . Landed 21 punts inside the opponent's 20-yard line and had just six touchbacks, which was the best ratio in the AFC and tied for fourth-best in the NFL . . . Best performance came at Denver, when he compiled a 48.4 average on seven punts, including three over 50 yards . . . Longest punt was a 64-yarder vs. Buffalo, the longest punt for the Chiefs since a 74-yarder by Grupp in 1979 . . . Beat out veteran Jeff Gossett during the '83 preseason for the Chiefs punting job . . . First punter taken in the 1983 draft . . . Led the nation in net punting with a 42.1 average as a senior at Vanderbilt . . . Was a consensus first-team All-America punter after compiling a 45.8 average as a senior, giving him a 43.9 career average . . . Broke Vanderbilt's single-game punting record with a 53.1 average vs. North Carolina his senior year . . . Majored in sociology . . . Attended Dalton H.S. in Dalton, Ga. . . . A prize free agent find for the Chiefs in '83 . . . Signed with the club at the midway point of the season and went on to start the final four contests at left tackle . . . The Chiefs need for another offensive lineman arose when starting right guard Tom Condon was placed on the injured reserve list following the eighth game . . . Had been released by the New York Giants earlier in the '83 season . . . After not playing in his first game as a Chief, Baldinger played in short-yardage situations instead of a tight end the next week vs. the Raiders when Willie Scott was ailing . . . Did not play the following week, but saw action in the final five contests for a total of six games in '83 . . . First pro start came at Seattle when

Matt Herkenhoff was injured . . . Chiefs coaches were pleased with his performance as a starter in the final four games . . . The Chiefs offensive line allowed just three sacks in the final three games despite playing as many as four rookies or first-year players at a time . . . Was a 10th-round draft choice of the Giants in 1981 and made the squad, playing in one of the nine games that year . . . Was a starting tackle for John Mackovic at Wake Forest . . . Became a part of the Chiefs passing offense in '83 for the first time in his career and easily surpassed career highs in pass receptions, yards and games started . . . Prior to the '83 season, he was used primarily as a blocker in short-yardage situations and had made only three catches for 24 yards in his six NFL years, and hadn't caught a pass since '79 . . . Shattered those totals with 13 receptions for 130 yards last year, while starting seven games in a two tight end formation . . . Played in 15 games, missing the season finale with a neck and shoulder injury . . . Caught passes in 10 different games, including two in home games against Seattle, N.Y. Giants and Buffalo . . . His 26 receiving yards vs. Seattle in the opener was a career high . . . Caught a career-long 20-yarder vs. Buffalo on a spectacular, one-handed grab . . . An impressive training camp vaulted Beckman into a starting role in John Mackovic's first year and he helped the Chiefs establish club records in passing yardage . . . Continued his fine play on kicking teams, making a total of 15 tackles to bring his career total to 73 . . . It was his kicking teams skills that enabled him to make the Chiefs squad as a free agent in 1977 . . . Was the kicking teams captain for five consecutive seasons . . . Has blocked three kicks in his career; a blocked punt in '79 and '80, and a blocked field goal in '81 . . . Has returned six kickoffs (three each in '78 and '80) for 112 yards as one of the "up" men . . . Also was credited with a safety in '78 and a fumble recovery in '80 . . . A hard-nosed competitor who has played in 94 regular season Chiefs games . . . Missed the final seven games in '79 after knee surgery and missed one game in '81 with muscle spasms in his back . . . Was bypassed in the 1977 draft out of Florida State, but signed with the Chiefs as a free agent in May of that year . . . Attended South Miami H.S. . . . Hobbies include deep sea fishing, skin diving and sailing . . . Majored in criminology . . . Full name: Edwin Jay Beckman . . . Married, wife Kim, sons Jake and John.

How Acquired: Draft (No. 1a - 1979)
College: Colorado State
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: August 30, 1957
Birthplace: Wichita, Kansas
Residence: Overland Park, Kansas

Was one of the AFC's top pass rushers in '83, his best season as a pro . . . His strong year-long performance was recognized by his peers, who selected him as the first alternate at defensive end for the AFC Pro Bowl squad . . . Led the Chiefs defense with a career-high 10 quarterback sacks, which ranked seventh in the conference . . . That was the best total by a Chiefs player since 1980, when Art Still had 14 1/2 . . . Best sack performance of '83 was vs. Cincinnati, when he nailed Ken Anderson behind the line of scrimmage three times . . . Also ranked fifth on the team with 75 total tackles . . . Best tackle output came in an overtime win over Houston, when he made 11 stops . . . Another '83 highlight came at Seattle when he recovered a fumble at the Seahawk one-yard line and saw the Chiefs score a touchdown on the next play . . . Was healthy the entire season for just the second time in his NFL career, starting all 16 games at right end . . . Career log reads 51 games, 43 starts, 222 total tackles, 22 sacks for 163 1/2 yards in losses and three fumble recoveries . . . Will officially be in his fifth NFL season in '84, because he wasn't credited with an official season in '80 due to playing in just two games before undergoing surgery to repair a bicep muscle in the shoulder area which separated from the bone as he was rushing the passer versus Seattle . . . The Chiefs No. 1 draft choice in '79 and the second pick overall . . . Appeared in 11 games as a rookie, missing five at midseason due to a strained knee . . . Broke into the starting lineup for the final four games and finished 35 tackles and 5 1/2 sacks . . . After missing the '80 campaign, he enjoyed a healthy '81 season and started all 16 games . . . Was the Chiefs third-leading tackler with 77 and second in sacks with five for minus 45 yards, helping the Chiefs defense rank first in the AFC against the run . . . Was injured throughout the strike-shortened '82 season, missing all of three games and parts of three others . . . Played in six contests that year, starting five, and finished with 27 tackles . . . At Colorado State, he had a brilliant four-year career, but knee surgery at the end of his senior season kept him from playing in any post-season all-star games . . . Was a first team All-America selection by The Sporting News and was named to the second team by AP and UPI . . . Unanimous all-Western Athletic Conference choice his final two seasons . . . Racked up 36 sacks during his four years at CSU . . . His twin brother, Mark, was a defensive end with the Seahawks and Colts last year . . . The Bell twins and Gary Spani conducted a football camp for youngsters during the off-season for the third consecutive summer in Wichita . . . Attended Bishop Carroll H.S. in Wichita, where he began playing football his junior year . . . Majored in business . . . Full name: Mike J. Bell . . . Single.

Became John Mackovic's first draft choice as head coach of the Chiefs and appears to have a prominent future as an NFL signal-caller . . . Used his rookie season to learn Mackovic's sophisticated offensive system and was impressive in playing stints in four games . . . Accuracy and composure were apparent in his appearances, as he completed 20 of 34 pass attempts (58.8 percent) for 259 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions . . . His QB rating was 112.0 . . . First NFL regular season action came Week Five vs. St. Louis when the Chiefs held a comfortable lead in the fourth quarter . . . Drove the Chiefs 60 yards in eight plays in his first series, completing four of five passes for 48 yards, including a 15-yard touchdown pass to TE Willie Scott to cap the drive . . . His second action came two weeks later in the final two minutes vs. the N.Y. Giants, but he did not attempt a pass . . . Third appearance came at Dallas in the fourth quarter and he completed 10 of 19 passes for 95 yards, which included a seven-yard TD pass to WR Stephone Paige . . . Combined with Bill Kenney in that game to set the Chiefs all-time record for team pass attempts (59), completions (33) and passing first downs (21) . . . Most extensive action came in the season finale, when he played the final 1 1/2 quarters in sub-zero weather, completing six of 10 passes for 116 yards, which included a 23-yard touchdown pass to Paige, plus a career-long 43-yard pass to Paige . . . Was selected as the Chiefs No. 1 draft choice in '83 after leading Penn State to its first-ever national championship and finishing sixth in balloting for the Heisman Trophy . . . Established 28 Penn State records during his three years as quarterback; six career, 11 season, 10 game and one bowl mark . . . Technically had one year of eligibility remaining because of being redshirted his first year with a broken hand . . . Three-year career totals included 341 completions, 658 attempts, 4,812 yards, 41 touchdowns and 41 interceptions . . . Also completed 32 of 58 passes for 520 yards in three bowl games . . . Sensational senior campaign vaulted him to the top of his draft class . . . Connected on 161 of 292 passes as a senior for 2,218 yards, 22 TD's and 14 thefts, leading Penn State to an 11-1 record and the national title by defeating Georgia in the Sugar Bowl . . . Was named MVP in that game by throwing for a school bowl record 228 yards . . . Nittany Lions were 29-4 in games Blackledge started, including 13 come-from-behind wins since winning the starting job the fourth game of 1980 . . . Was winner of distinguished Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award in 1982 for academic, athletic and leadership qualities . . . Won second team All-America honors from College and Pro Football Newsweekly and honorable mention from AP, UPI and The Sporting News as a senior, plus was selected to AP's All-East first team and was a COSIDA first team Academic All-America . . . Was the seventh player taken in the '83 draft and was the second quarterback chosen, next to John Elway . . . Graduated Phi Beta Kappa in speech communications . . . Active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes . . . Attended Hoover H.S. in Canton, Ohio, which is the same area John Mackovic and former Chiefs quarterback Len Dawson went to school . . . His father, Ron, is the offensive line coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers and formerly was the head coach at Kent State . . . Enjoys fishing and playing golf and basketball . . . Is coming off his best season as a pro, leading the Chiefs in tackles last year with a career-high 136 . . . Was cited by Mackovic as assuming an important leadership role the first half of the '83 season when Gary Spani was on injured reserve . . . Took over the defensive signal-calling when Spani was sidelined . . . Was effective the entire season, but was extremely productive the first month of the season when he notched 45 tackles in a three-game span: a career-high 17 in a Monday night game vs. San Diego, 12 the following Sunday at Washington, then 16 at Miami . . . Had over 10 tackles in six different games, leading the club in tackles all six times . . . Started all 16 games at left inside linebacker to bring his consecutive start string to 25, spanning the past two seasons . . . Has held down the starting spot since the latter part of the '80 campaign . . . Has played in 66 Chiefs games and started 37 . . . Signed with the Chiefs as a free agent in 1979 and was one of the club's best kicking teams performers as a rookie and in '80, playing in all 16 games both years . . . Backed up Whitney Paul at outside linebacker his first season, then moved to an inside spot in '80 and earned a starting berth the final three games . . . Finished that campaign with 39 total tackles . . . Played well when healthy in '81, making 66 tackles in nine games . . . Missed the first six games after suffering a strained knee in the final preseason game, then missed the season finale after reinjuring the same knee against the same team, Miami, in the regular season . . . Started all nine games during the '82 campaign and was the Chiefs third-leading tackler with 60 . . . Was an 11th-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 1978 . . . After being released, he played briefly with Hamilton of the CFL before reporting to the Chiefs . . . Played on the defensive line with Art Still at Kentucky and was an all-Southeast Conference performer as a senior . . . Majored in criminology . . . Attended DeVilbiss H.S. in Toledo, where he was a fullback and linebacker . . . Full name: Gerald Blanton . . . Single.

An all-purpose back who gave a tremendous boost to the Chiefs offense after joining the team Week Five last year . . . Despite being on the squad just 12 games, he finished as the Chiefs second-leading rusher with 467 yards on 124 carries and as the third-leading receiver (first among running backs) with 47 catches for 418 yards . . . Led the team in touchdowns with 10, eight of which were rushing and two receiving . . . Averaged almost 100 all-purpose yards per game, with his rushing, receiving and kickoff return yardage adding up to 1,186 yards in 12 games . . . Gained over 100 all-purpose yards in his first four games with the Chiefs and in seven overall, with a high of 157 vs. the N.Y. Giants . . . Top rushing game was at San Diego, when he gained 94 yards on just eight carries, the best rushing total for a Chiefs running back since Billy Jackson's 102 yards in the '81 finale . . . Was the Chiefs leading rusher in each of the final four games and for five times overall . . . Top receiving game was at the L.A. Raiders, when he caught six passes for 72 yards, four of which came in the final 40 seconds of the game during the Chiefs comeback bid . . . Led the team in receiving twice . . . His 47 receptions were the most by a Chiefs running back since Tony Reed's 48 in 1978 . . . Became the Chiefs big-play offensive weapon, making the team's longest run of the year — a career-long 49-yard TD sprint at San Diego — and making the longest pass play of the season — a 53-yard gain on a screen pass vs. Cincinnati . . . Served as the Chiefs primary kickoff return man during his first seven games with the club, compiling a 20.1 average on 15 returns . . . Signed with the Chiefs prior to the fifth game of the year after he had been released by the Seattle Seahawks . . . Became an instant success in Kansas City, gaining 52 yards on 11 carries and catching four passes for 15 yards in his debut vs. St. Louis, even running some plays he hadn't worked on before in his limited practice . . .

Earned the starting halfback spot, opening in the final nine games . . . Threw the first pass of his NFL career in the Chiefs overtime win over Houston, completing an 11-yarder to TE Willie Scott . . . Chiefs represent Brown's third NFL team, as he was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals in the second round of '79, then traded to the Seahawks during midseason of '81 . . . Was used as a fullback at St. Louis and was the Cards third-leading rusher in both '79 and '80 . . . Gained 318 yards on 73 carries for a 4.4 average and seven touchdowns as a rookie, then 185 yards on 41 carries for a 4.7 average as a "sophomore" . . . Played in all 16 games both years, starting one game (vs. Pittsburgh) his rookie season . . . Also used extensively as a receiver out of the backfield, catching 25 passes his first year and 21 the next season . . . After playing four games (starting three of them) in St. Louis in '81, he was traded to Seattle for the final nine contests . . . Was the Seahawks leading rusher that season with 531 yards on 141 carries and scored six touchdowns, and caught 25 passes for 268 yards . . . Gained a career-high 104 yards on 14 carries vs. the N.Y. Jets in '81, his first start as a member of the Seahawks . . . Played in all nine games in '82 and compiled 141 yards on 53 carries and two touchdowns . . . Also caught 12 passes for 95 yards . . . Ranks second on UCLA's all-time career rushing charts with 2,830 yards in three years, behind only Wendall Tyler . . . Gained 1,199 yards as a senior, second-most in UCLA history, including a school record 274 yards on 26 carries vs. Oregon . . . Led the Pac-8 in kickoff returns as a sophomore and senior . . . Was an AP, UPI and Sporting News honorable mention All-America his senior season and played in the Hula and Challenge Bowl games . . . Attended Skyline H.S. in Oakland, Calif., where he posted impressive track marks of 9.6 in the 100-yard dash, 48.8 in the 440, 23-8 in the long jump, 52-3 in the shot put and over 165-0 in the discus . . . While in St. Louis, he co-hosted a radio program with teammate Ottis Anderson, called "The Ottis and Theotis Show" . . . Appeared in the movie "North Dallas Forty" . . . Has sung the national anthem before Seattle SuperSonics and Seattle Mariners games . . . Theatre Arts major . . . Full name: Theotis Brown, Jr. . . . Married, wife Chris.

Has become one of the top offensive guards in the league and will anchor the Chiefs left side for the fifth consecutive season . . . Performed at a high level a year ago until suffering the first injury of his pro career, a sprained left knee vs. Dallas . . . Spent the final four games on injured reserve, but surgery wasn't required . . . It marked the first games he had missed since being drafted No. 1 by the Chiefs in 1980, as he had played in the first 53 contests . . . Had started 38 consecutive games for the Chiefs before the injury . . . Showed versatility by starting the N.Y. Giants game at left tackle because of injuries to two Chiefs tackles . . . Helped Chiefs offensive line allow an average of just one sack in every 15 pass attempts last year, which ranked eighth in the NFL . . . Came to Kansas City with much fanfare in '80, not only because he was the club's No. 1 draft choice and the top collegiate lineman in the country that year, but also because his father, Ed, had been an All-Pro guard for the Chiefs during his career from 1963-76 . . . It marked the first time in pro football history that a father and son had been drafted in the first round by the same team . . . First start of Brad's career came in the fifth game his rookie season, when Bob Simmons was sidelined . . . Next start came in the next to last game of that season and he has maintained the spot ever since . . . Also returned three kickoffs for 28 yards his rookie year as an "up" man . . . Showed great improvement during his second and third seasons, starting every game . . . Enjoyed a brilliant four-year career at USC, capping it by winning the Lombardi Award for the top collegiate lineman of the year . . . Became just the second offensive lineman to win the award . . . Was a consensus first team All-America selection and was named UPI's offensive lineman of the year . . . Was the first freshman to start for USC since World War II . . . During his four years, the Trojans gained three Rose Bowl berths and won all three . . . A three-time all-Pacific 10 selection before becoming the 11th player chosen in the '80 draft . . . Was a high school All-America at Rockhurst H.S. in Kansas City, where he played both offense and defense . . . Was a water boy as a youngster at the Chiefs training camp in Liberty, Mo., and frequently accompanied his father to workouts . . . Wore his father's jersey number (71) at USC, but selected No. 66 when he joined the Chiefs because veteran Dave Lindstrom already had 71 . . . Majored in public administration . . . Worked as a fleet manager for an automobile dealership in the Kansas City area during the past off-season . . . Full name: Brad Edward Budde . . . Married, wife Nicki, daughter Sasha (3).

A hard-hitting defensive back who plays equally well vs. the pass and the run . . . Has quickly developed into one of the better safeties in the league since becoming a starter as a rookie in '81 . . . Has been overshadowed because the Chiefs secondary has placed two players on the AFC Pro Bowl squad each of his three years . . . Equalled a career high with four interceptions last season, despite missing four games with a pulled hamstring . . . The hamstring kept him from being completely healthy the final 10 games and he didn't play at all in the final three contests . . . Had started 29 consecutive games until missing the Houston contest . . . Played and started in 12 games . . . Began the season in grand fashion, picking off two Jim Zorn passes in the final two minutes of the season-opening victory over the Seattle Seahawks . . . It marked the second time in his pro career he had two thefts in the same game, the first coming vs. New England in his rookie campaign . . . His other thefts in '83 came vs. Washington and Cincinnati . . . Was credited with 46 tackles for the season, with a single-game high of nine vs. the L.A. Raiders . . . Also recovered two fumbles vs. Miami . . . Was the Chiefs third pick of the third round in '81, coming on a choice obtained from the L.A. Rams in a 1980 trade for Walter White . . . Appeared in all 16 games as a rookie . . . Started the second game of the season, then broke into the lineup permanently in the final 13 games . . . Finished the year with four interceptions and 69 tackles, fourth on the club in both categories . . . Was voted the winner of the Mack Lee Hill Award, given annually to the outstanding Chiefs rookie who displayed the qualities of the late Hill . . . Made the Chiefs only interception return for a touchdown in '81, picking off a Zorn pass and racing 46 yards in a lopsided win over Seattle . . . Burruss and the late Joe Delaney were the only rookie starters for the Chiefs that year . . . Was also used occasionally on kickoff returns, running back five for 91 yards, an 18.2 average . . . Started all nine games in '82, intercepting one pass and leading the squad with nine pass breakups . . . Also recorded 50 tackles, with a career-high of 12 vs. the Rams . . . Played superbly on kicking teams that year, blocking a field goal attempt and a punt . . . Was a four-year starter at Maryland, totaling nine interceptions and 160 tackles during his career . . . Was a first team All-ACC selection and an honorable mention All-America choice by AP . . . Started four bowl games for the Terrapins: Cotton, Hall of Fame, Sun and Tangerine . . . Attended Charlottesville H.S., where he was a prep All-America in football and track . . . As a trackster, he competed in the 440, 880, relays, long jump, triple jump and shot put . . . Enjoys hunting and fishing . . . Full name: Lloyd Earl Burruss, Jr. . . . Married, wife Pamela.

Regarded as one of the league's most dangerous wide receivers after putting together an incredible 1983 season, which ended with him being voted as a starter on the AFC Pro Bowl squad . . . Became the No. 1 target in John Mackovic's explosive aerial game and recorded the most productive receiving season in Chiefs history . . . Set Chiefs season records for receptions and receiving yardage: his 80 catches shattered a 21-year-old record of 68 receptions by Chris Burford in 1962 and his 1,351 yards broke Otis Taylor's 1966 club mark of 1,297 yards . . . His 1,351 yards were the most in the AFC last year, second-best in the NFL next to Philadelphia's Mike Quick, and was the 13th best performance in league history . . . His 80 receptions ranked fifth in the NFL and second among wide receivers, behind Houston's Tim Smith . . . Caught passes for over 100 yards in six games last year, tying Quick for most in the league and tying Taylor's club record of six from 1966 . . . Now has seven career games with over 100 receiving yards, second-most in Chiefs history next to Taylor's 21 . . . Had over 100 yards receiving in four of the last seven games of '83 . . . Finished the season with a streak of 26 consecutive games of catching at least one pass, dating back to 1981 . . . Gained a career-high 165 yards at San Diego and caught a career-high eight passes at Houston . . . During a four-game stretch before the season finale, he caught 24 passes for 514 yards and broke his personal career-best in yardage three times . . . Caught seven touchdown passes, the most by a Chiefs wide receiver since Taylor's seven in 1971 . . . Five of his TDs came in the final five games . . . Caught two touchdown passes at Dallas, the first time he had more than one in a game in his pro career . . . Threw a 48-yard touchdown pass to Henry Marshall late in a Monday night game vs. San Diego for a go-ahead score late in the game . . . Carried the ball twice on the reverse, gaining a career-high 18 yards at Seattle . . . Averaged five catches for 84.4 yards per game for the season . . . Has started 20 consecutive games dating back to 1982 . . . First entered the starting lineup in '82 when he opened in six of the nine games during the strike-shortened season, including the final four contests . . . Was the Chiefs second-leading receiver that year with 27 receptions for 494 yards, a team-leading 18.3 average and two touchdowns . . . Top yardage game was a 110-yard effort on three catches vs. Denver . . . In 1981, he was off to a good start as a reserve before breaking his left leg in the third game . . . Caught four passes for 101 yards in the first three games, including a 53-yard touchdown that helped the Chiefs upset the Pittsburgh Steelers in the opener . . . Missed the next 11 games before returning for the final two contests . . . Started the finale in place of the injured J. T. Smith . . . Returned 10 kickoffs for a 22.7 average in '81 . . . As a rookie in '80, he was primarily a kick return specialist and finished fifth in the AFC with a 22.9 average on 40 returns . . . That was only one shy of the Chiefs record for most returns in a season held by Noland Smith (1967) . . . His 917 yardage total was second in team history behind Smith's 1967 total of 1,148 yards . . . Also caught five passes for 68 yards as a rookie . . . Was the Chiefs fifth round draft choice in 1980 on a choice obtained from the Colts . . . At LSU, he made 89 receptions in three varsity years . . . Set school records in '77 by scoring five touchdowns in a five-catch, 201-yard effort vs. Rice; caught another TD pass the following week to set an NCAA record for consecutive passes caught for a touchdown . . . Played on LSU's '79 Tangerine Bowl team and competed in the Hula and Japan Bowl all-star games . . . Majored in Physical education . . . Attended Leonard H.S. in Lake Worth, Fla. . . . Vaulted from a backup defensive back to one of league's best safeties in one year, capping his "Cinderella" 1983 season by being voted as the AFC's starting free safety in the Pro Bowl . . . After seeing limited playing time his first two NFL seasons, he earned the Chiefs starting free safety job in the '83 training camp when All-Pro Gary Barbaro was an unsigned free agent . . . Took full advantage of the opportunity and played consistently all season long, starting all 16 games . . . Got off to a blazing start, intercepting six passes in the first eight games and led the league in that category for most of the season . . . Finished with seven interceptions, which ranked third in the AFC, one behind Cincinnati's Ken Riley and the Raiders Vann McElroy, and sixth in the entire NFL . . . Also had three thefts called back because of a penalty away from the play . . . Picked off two Randy Lisch passes vs. St. Louis, marking the first time in his career for more than one theft in a single game . . . Made the longest interception return of his career in that game, a 41-yarder . . . His other interceptions came off Dan Fouts vs. San Diego, David

Woodley at Miami, Scott Brunner vs. the N.Y. Giants, Gifford Nielson at Houston and Danny White at Dallas . . . Also was the Chiefs second-leading tackler in '83 with a career-high 110 total stops, behind Jerry Blanton's 136 . . . That included a career-high 12 tackles vs. San Diego in a Monday night contest and 11-tackle efforts at Washington and Houston . . . Was credited with a 1½ quarterback sacks vs. Cincinnati, the first of his pro career . . . Recovered two fumbles and forced two others during the campaign . . . Was the Chiefs leading rusher with 499 yards on 152 carries for a 3.3 average and two touchdowns . . . Also was used frequently as a receiver out of the backfield for the first time in his career (college and pro), catching 32 passes for 243 yards . . . Best rushing game was in the season opener vs. Seattle, when he gained 77 yards on 19 carries . . . Both of those figures were the second-best single-game totals of his career and the 19 carries were the most of the season for the Chiefs . . . Led the Chiefs in rushing yardage in eight games . . . Set career highs with five receptions against the L.A. Raiders and at San Diego, although his career high in receiving yardage came in the season finale vs. Denver, when he gained 35 yards on two catches . . . Played in all 16 games and started 14, as a hamstring pull bothered him in several of the late-season games . . . Most of his early-season starts were in a one-back formation . . . Has played in all 41 games since being drafted in the seventh round in 1981 and has started 23 . . . Established himself as the Chiefs goal line and short yardage specialist as a rookie . . . Set the club record for rushing touchdowns with 10 and had a total of 11 . . . His 66 points ranked fourth in the AFC among non-kickers that year . . . Finished his rookie campaign with 398 rushing yards on 111 carries for a 3.6 average and played in all 16 games . . . Top performance of his pro career came in his first start in the season finale at Minnesota, when he rambled for 102 yards on 25 carries, helping the Chiefs to a 10-6 victory and winning season . . . Saw limited action in the first seven games that year, but came into his own during Week Eight at Oakland, where he scored three touchdowns while playing halfback for the first time . . . Caught six passes for 31 yards as a rookie and returned three kickoffs early in the season for 60 yards . . . In 1982, he played a versatile role by winning the starting fullback job, then moving to halfback later in the season due to injuries to the late Joe Delaney . . . Started seven games at fullback and one at halfback, finishing the season as the Chiefs second-leading rusher with 243 yards on 86 carries . . . Toe injury caused him to not start in the finale . . . Scored all three of the Chiefs rushing touchdowns that year . . . Caught five passes for 41 yards during the season . . . Top rushing game in '82 was in the opener vs. Buffalo, when he picked up 53 yards on 12 carries

. . . Was a three-year letterman at Alabama, but didn't compile great statistics because of the late Bear Bryant's system of using numerous running backs . . . Gained 606 yards on 111 carries his senior season, earning all-Southwest Conference second-team honors and was named honorable mention All-America by AP . . . Was a member of two national championship teams with the Crimson Tide in 1978 and '79 . . . Also played in the Senior Bowl . . . Majored in social work . . . Attended Central H.S. in Phenix City, Ala. . . . Enjoys fishing, hunting and listening to music . . . Full name: Billy Thurman Jackson . . . Married, wife Saundra.

Won the starting quarterback job in John Mackovic's first year and went on to record one of the top single-season passing performances in NFL history . . . En route to breaking nearly every Chiefs passing record and earning a Pro Bowl berth, he came close to several NFL marks . . . Became just the fifth quarterback in league history to pass for more than 4,000 yards in a single season, joining the elite group of Dan Fouts, Joe Namath, Brian Sipe and Lynn Dickey . . . His 4,348 yards is the fourth-best mark ever attained, behind two of Fouts' seasons (4,802 in 1981 and 4,715 in 1980) and Dickey's '83 season (4,458) . . . Attempted 603 passes, which ranks second in NFL annals just behind Fouts' 609 in 1981 . . . Completed 346 passes, the fourth-best total on record behind Fouts (360 in 1981 and 348 in 1980) and Steve DeBerg (347 in 1979 at San Francisco) . . . Threw for over 300 yards in seven games, which ties for second in league history with Fouts in 1981 and behind Fouts' eight-game performance in '80 . . . Had a streak of four consecutive 300-yard-plus games, which also ties for second with Fouts' 1979 season and behind Joe Montana's five in 1982 . . . Kenney's '83 totals completely shattered previous Chiefs season records: his 4,348 yards easily surpassed Len Dawson's 1974 record of 2,879 yards, his 603 attempts outdistanced Cotton Davidson's 1960 mark of 379, and his 346 completions buried Dawson's 1967 record of 206 completions . . . Also broke Dawson's 1962 total offense record of 3,011 yards, gaining 4,407 yards (4,348 passing and 59 rushing) . . . Best game of his season and career came Week 15 at San Diego, when he threaded the Chargers defense for 411 yards by completing 31 of 41 attempts and threw four touchdown passes . . . The 31 completions set the Chiefs single-game record, the 411 yards was a personal best and ranks second in Chiefs history behind a 435-yard Dawson performance and the four TD passes tied a personal best he set twice earlier in '83 at Seattle and vs. the N.Y. Giants . . . Another top game was at Denver, when he attempted a Chiefs record 52 passes, completed 27, which was a record until his 31 vs. San Diego, and threw for 365 yards, which was a personal best until his 411 yards vs. San Diego . . . At Dallas, he completed 23 of 40 passes for 337 yards and combined with Todd Blackledge to set the Chiefs team record for single-game pass attempts (59) and completions (33) . . . Tied Dawson's record of 15 consecutive pass completions early in the season when he connected on his final 13 passes in Monday night game vs. San Diego and completed his first two passes the following Sunday at Washington . . . Attempted 40 or more passes in eight games and completed 20 or more passes in 12 contests . . . Scored the first rushing touchdown of his career vs. Cincinnati, then scored twice on sneaks at Seattle and caught the first pass of his career on a deflected attempt in that game . . . Threw 24 touchdown passes last year, which ties for fourth in Chiefs history, and threw 18 interceptions, third-most on the club's list . . . Had impressive ratio in final 12 games, throwing 22 TD's and just 12 thefts . . . Ranked seventh in the AFC with a quarterback rating of 80.8 . . . Ranked first in the NFL in attempts and completions and second in yards behind Dickey . . . Started all 16 games and played all the way except at the end of four games which had virtually been decided . . . Was named the Chiefs Most Valuable Player by his teammates following the '83 season . . . Was voted as an alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl team, then played in the game when Miami's Dan Marino couldn't go because of an injury . . . Kenney's sensational season came after a preseason battle with Steve Fuller, who had shared the job with Kenney the previous three seasons and was traded to the L.A. Rams, and with No. 1 draft choice Todd Blackledge on his heels . . . Was instrumental in helping Mackovic convert Chiefs from a run-oriented offense to a pass-oriented attack . . . For his career, he now ranks third in Chiefs history behind Dawson and Mike Livingston for passes attempted (1,114), completions (625), passing yards (8,065) and touchdowns (45) in just three-plus seasons . . . Signed with the Chiefs as a free agent in '79 and beat out Pete Woods for the third QB spot, behind Fuller and Livingston . . . Was on the Chiefs active roster that entire season, but didn't play a down . . . First regular season action of NFL career came in '80, when he replaced the injured Fuller in the final three games . . . Leading the Chiefs to victory in two of the three, he passed for 542 yards, including 316 in the finale vs. Baltimore . . . Started the first 13 games in '81 and completed 147 of 274 passes for 1,983 yards and nine touchdowns before being replaced by Fuller in the final three games . . . Best game that season was vs. San Diego, when he connected on 22 of 41 attempts for 303 yards . . . Started the first three and final three contests during the strike-shortened '82 campaign . . . Was replaced by Fuller during mid-season, but won back the job with the first relief appearance as a pro vs. the Raiders . . . Completed 95 of 169 passes for 1,192 yards and seven touchdowns, ranking seventh in the AFC with a QB rating of 77.0 . . . Best game was in the season finale against the N.Y. Jets, when he threw for 223 yards and completed 18 of 27 passes, including 11 in a row, and three touchdowns . . . Was the next to last player taken in the 1978 draft by the Miami Dolphins . . . Was traded to the Washington Redskins during that preseason, but was released and he sat out the '78 season . . . Began his collegiate career at Arizona State under Frank Kush, now head coach of the Colts, but transferred to Saddleback (Calif.) Junior College and then on to Northern Colorado . . . At UNC, he played tight end as a junior, catching 17 passes, then subbed at quarterback in two games and completed 18 of 40 passes . . . Then played QB full time as a senior, completing 97 of 226 passes for 1,264 yards and seven touchdowns . . . Attended San Clemente H.S. in Calif. . . . Majored in Business Administration . . . His father, Charles, was a guard for the San Francisco 49ers in 1947 . . . Hobbies include fishing, hunting, landscaping and woodworking . . . Active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes . . . Full name: William Patrick Kenney . . . Married, wife Sandi, daughter Kristin (3), son Billy (1).

Is hoping to bounce back this year after seeing his '83 season end with a knee injury in the season opener . . . It was the second season he has missed since being drafted in the fourth round in '80 . . . Started the '83 opener in place of the injured Gary Spani, but went down in the third quarter and underwent surgery two days later to repair ligament damage in his right knee . . . Made four tackles before the injury . . . Missed his first season with the Chiefs after having surgery on his ankle which he injured on a Cybex machine prior to the draft . . . Saw action in 15 games in '81, playing primarily on kicking teams and sparingly at outside linebacker, making three tackles . . . Switched to the inside in '82 and played in all nine games . . . Made his first NFL start in the season finale that year when Spani was injured and responded with 11 solo tackles and one assist to lead the defense in a 37-13 drubbing of the New York Jets . . . That gave him 16 tackles for the season . . . Has been one of the Chiefs top kicking team performers . . . Recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for the Chiefs only touchdown in a 19-12 win over the San Diego Chargers in '82 . . . At Concordia College in Minnesota, he was a three-year starter as a standup defensive end . . . Was a two-time first-team selection by the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference . . . As a junior, his team won the NCAA Division III national championship . . . Also was a forward on Concordia's basketball squad and competed on the track team as a high hurdler . . . Placekicker Ht: 6-4 Wt: 189

How Acquired: Free Agent (1980)
College: Dartmouth
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: May 27, 1956
Birthplace: Munich, Germany
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Will become the NFL's all-time leading placekicker in '84 when he reaches the minimum requirement of 100 successful field goals (he's 11 away) . . . Owns a 76.1 career completion percentage, which will put him ahead of Rolf Benirschke, who is the current leader with 72.0 percent . . . Set the Chiefs record for field goal completion percentage in '83 for the second consecutive season, making 24 of 30 attempts for an 80.0 percentage . . . Had converted on 19 of 24 attempts in '82 for a 79.2 percentage, breaking Jan Stenerud's 1969 mark of 77.1 percent . . . Continuing his uncanny accuracy which has made him one of the NFL's most productive placekickers, his only misses last year were from 52, 51, 48, 47, 43 and 42 yards out . . . Hasn't missed a field goal attempt inside the 40-yard line since the '81 season finale . . . Hasn't missed inside the 30-yard line in his entire pro career, making all 23 attempts . . . Set a personal best with 116 points last year, bettering his 1981 total of 115 points, and that tied for the third-highest season total in Chiefs history, behind Stenerud's 129 points i '68 and 119 points in '69 . . . His 116 points, the third season he has scored over 100 points, ranked second in the AFC and sixth in the NFL last year . . . Now ranks second on the Chiefs career scoring charts with 402 points, behind Stenerud's 1,231 tallies . . . Broke his own Chiefs record for longest field goal made when he connected on a 58-yarder at Washington, which bettered by one yard his 57-yarder set the second game of his rookie season in 1980 vs. Seattle . . . The 58-yarder tied for the third-longest field goal in NFL history, behind only Tom Dempsey's 63-yarder in '70 and Tony Franklin's 59-yarder in '79 . . . Kicked four field goals in the Washington game, tying his personal best for successful attempts in a game, which he had set twice previously . . . Also made a 54-yard effort vs. the Raiders at Arrowhead, the third-longest of his career and tied for fourth-longest in Chiefs history . . . Kicked a 41-yard field goal in overtime to vault the Chiefs to victory over Houston . . . Finished the season by making his final six attempts . . . Has been among the NFL's most productive placekickers since joining the Chiefs in 1980: among kickers who have been in the league those entire four seasons, his 76.7 completion percentage (89-116) is second behind Ray Wersching's 77.5 percent, his 89 field goals made is second behind Mark Moseley's 90 and his 413 points is second behind Moseley . . . Maybe the truest statistic is average length of field goals made and missed, which Lowery leads all kickers the past four years with a 36.0-yard average for field goals made and 47.6 for missed attempts . . . Has attempted more field goals 50 yards or longer (21) than any other kicker during that period and is tied for making the most (7) . . . Has made 85.4 percent (82 of 96) of his attempts inside the 50-yard line in his career . . . Has missed just two PAT's in his career in 144 attempts and had a streak of 55 in a row snapped at Seattle last year . . . His six PAT's in the season finale vs. Denver last year was a career high . . . Beat out longtime Kansas City legend Jan Stenerud in 1980 as a rookie free agent and rebutted the skeptics quickly with superb kicking . . . In the second game of the season vs. Seattle, he boomed a 57-yard field goal, which broke the club record of 55 yards set by Stenerud in '70 . . . Made good on 20 of 26 field goal attempts that year, including 16 of 19 inside midfield . . . Finished his rookie campaign with 97 points . . . Capped a brilliant 1981 season by being voted as the placekicker for the AFC Pro Bowl squad, then won the Pro Bowl Game with a 23-yard field goal with three seconds remaining . . . Connected on 26 of 36 attempts that year, including 25 of 29 inside the 50-yard line, and scored 115 points . . . The 26 field goals were the most in the AFC in '82 and the 115 points tied him with Jim Breech for most in the conference . . . Made seven consecutive field goals during a four-game stretch, the second-most in his career . . . Was selected to the

All-NFL team by News' a er Enter rise Assn., and to the UPI All-AFC first team . . . In the nine-game '82 cam aign, he earned second team AFC honors from UPI . . . In addition to breaking the Chiefs ercentage record for the first time, his 19 field goals were to s in the AFC for the second straight year (and second in the NFL next to Moseley's 20) and his 74 points were second in the conference and third in the NFL . . . Made 19 of 21 tries inside midfield and was perfect inside the 40-yard line . . . Kicked seven field goals in the first two games in both '81 and '82 . . . Before winning a spot with the Chiefs, he had tried unsuccessfully with eight other NFL teams . . . After not being drafted out of Dartmouth, he tried out with the N.Y. Jets in '78 but was cut during training camp . . . Then signed with New England during mid-season and appeared in two games, connecting on all seven PAT's and missing his only field goal attempt before being released . . . Failed in tryouts with Cincinnati, Washington, Baltimore, New Orleans, Tampa Bay and San Diego in '79 . . . Has spent parts of the last six summers in Washington, D.C., working as an assistant in different legislative areas of the U.S. Government . . . Spent part of his childhood in Europe, where he played both rugby and soccer . . . His father worked for the State Department at the American Embassy in London . . . Majored in government . . . Interests include politics, drama, jazz music, drums and tennis . . . Full name: Dominic Gerald Lowery . . . Single.

Tackle Ht: 6-5 Wt: 285

How Acquired: Draft (No. 2 - 1983)
College: Georgia Tech
NFL Experience: 2
Birthdate: December 30, 1959
Birthplace: Monroe, North Carolina
Residence: Atlanta, Georgia

Displayed the potential as a rookie to become one of the premier tackles in the NFL in the coming years . . . Stepped into the Chiefs starting lineup at right tackle during the preseason and went on to become the only Chiefs offensive lineman to start all 16 games in '83 . . . Was chosen by his veteran teammates as the 1983 winner of the Mack Lee Hill Award, an annual award given to the Chiefs outstanding rookie who best exemplifies the play and spirit of the late Hill, who played for the Chiefs in 1964 and '65 . . . Improved greatly as the season progressed . . . Near the end of the season, he allowed Seattle DE Jacob Green and Buffalo DE Ben Williams, two of the top ends in the league, a total of no solo tackles and three assists in back-to-back games . . . Became the first Chiefs rookie to start the season-opening game since DE Art Still and Sylvester Hicks in '78 . . . Beat out 10-year veteran Charlie Getty, who has traded to the Green Bay Packers, for the right tackle job . . . Was named to the 1983 NFL All-Rookie Team by Football Digest . . . Was the Chiefs second round draft choice after starting four years at Georgia Tech, which used a pro-style offense . . . Was redshirted in '78, then started 44 consecutive games the next four years and didn't miss an offensive snap his final two seasons . . . Earned honorable mention All-America recognition from AP as a senior and from The Sporting News his final two years . . . Played in the '83 Blue-Gray Game and was chosen to play in the Japan Bowl, but elected to complete some school work . . . Teamed with Ellis Gardner, the Chiefs sixth round draft pick in '83, to give Georgia Tech one of the outstanding tackle duos in the nation . . . Attended Bowman H.S. in Peachland, N.C., where he lettered three years in football and one year in wrestling . . . Majored in Industrial Management . . . Interests include fishing, hunting and listening to country music . . . Was a fishing guide in Georgia during the past off-season . . . Full name: David Graham Lutz . . . Single.

How Acquired: Free Agent (1980)
College: Rutgers
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: December 19, 1958
Birthplace: New York, New York
Residence: Staten Island, New York

Is the incumbent starter at nose tackle for the Chiefs . . . Broke into the starting lineup early in the '83 season and went on to register his best season as a professional . . . Started the last 10 games of the campaign and totaled 11 starts while playing in all 16 games . . . Was sixth on the team in total tackles with 74 (54 solos and 20 assists) . . . Was second in quarterback sacks with 4½ . . . Both figures were career highs . . . Top performance came in the Chiefs overtime win over the Houston Oilers, when he made 11 tackles . . . Another highlight came in the fourth quarter of the Chiefs OT loss to the Seattle Seahawks, when he recovered a Dave Krieg fumble deep in Kansas City territory and returned it 32 yards . . . His '83 tackle output surpassed his totals of his first three NFL seasons and his number of sacks were just one shy of his previous total . . . Career log reads: 47 games, 12 starts, 138 total tackles and 10 sacks . . . Joined the Chiefs in 1980 as a free agent out of Rutgers, was cut during the preseason as a rookie, but was brought back prior to the regular season opener when Ken Kremer was injured . . . Compiled 50 tackles that year while playing in all 16 games . . . Had a memorable day at Pittsburgh, when he intercepted a Terry Bradshaw pass after deflecting it at the line of scrimmage and he also came up with a fumble recovery . . . Started one game (vs. Seattle) in '80, which was his only career start until last year . . . In 1981, he played in the final nine contests after missing the first seven games due to a knee injury sustained in training camp . . . His six tackles in '81 included 2½ sacks . . . In '82, he filled in superbly along the defensive line for the final six games after being activated from the injured reserve list . . . Played as a reserve at both nose tackle and defensive end, registering eight tackles and 1½ sacks . . . Missed the early part of '82 because of a contusion to the right hand . . . Was a standout defensive end at Rutgers . . . Majored in physical education . . . Attended Curtis H.S. in Staten Island, N.Y. . . . Full name: Dino M. Mangiero . . . Married, wife Jamie, son Daniel (2).

HENRY MARSHALL • 89
Wide Receiver Ht: 6-2 Wt: 220

How Acquired: Draft (No. 3d - 1976)
College: Missouri
NFL Experience: 9
Birthdate: August 9, 1954
Birthplace: Broxton, Georgia
Residence: Kansas City, Missouri

Finally got the chance to play in a pass-oriented offense in '83 and responded with the best of his eight NFL seasons . . . Despite missing three games with injuries, he caught a career-high 50 passes, breaking his previous mark of 47 receptions set in 1980 . . . Gained 788 pass receiving yards, which was just 11 yards shy of his '80 best of 799, and scored six touchdowns, which tied his '80 mark . . . Missed the Cincinnati game after undergoing surgery to repair a nose fracture he sustained while diving after a ball in the end zone vs. the L.A. Raiders, then spent the final two games on injured reserve after breaking his left arm on a catch vs. Buffalo . . . Gained over 100 receiving yards in two games in '83, bringing his career total to six, which ranks third in Chiefs history behind Otis Taylor (21) and Carlos Carson (7) . . . The first was a seven-catch, 131-yard performance vs. the N.Y. Giants, which included two touchdown receptions to help the Chiefs to a 38-17 rout . . . The 131 yards were the second-most in a single game in his career, behind a 176-yard effort vs. Baltimore in '80 . . . His second 100-yard game last year was at Dallas, when he grabbed eight passes, second-most in his career behind his nine-catch game vs. Baltimore in '80 . . . Also came close to 100 yards at Denver, when he caught six passes for 96 yards . . . Another highlight was in a Monday night game vs. San Diego, when he caught a 48-yard touchdown pass on a flea-flicker from Carson that put the Chiefs ahead with 3:07 remaining in the game . . . Caught at least one pass in every game but one (at Miami) in '83, which snapped a 22-game catch streak . . . Started nine of the 13 games he played . . . Now ranks fourth on the Chiefs all-time career receptions charts with 273, behind Ed Podolak (288), Chris Burford (391) and Taylor (410) . . . Is in third place on the career receiving yardage list with 4,409 yards, behind Burford (5,525) and Taylor (7,306) . . . Entering his ninth NFL season, he has the most experience among Chiefs receivers and of his teammates, only OG Tom Condon (11th year) has been in the league longer . . . Has been the most consistent player in the Chiefs passing game since being drafted as the team's fourth pick in the third round of the '76 draft on a choice obtained from the Houston Oilers in a deal involving Curley Culp . . . Has played in 110 of a possible 117 games and has started 101 of those . . . Stepped in as a starter immediately as a rookie and posted similar stats in each of his first four seasons, catching between 20-30 passes each year . . . Came into his own in a spectacular 1980 campaign, catching 47 passes for 799 yards and six touchdowns . . . Gained over 100 yards in pass receiving in three games that year, which included his career-best nine catches for 176 yards in the season finale vs. Baltimore . . . The 176 yards still rank as the fifth-most receiving yardage in a single game in Chiefs history and he also snatched a career-long 75-yard pass in that contest . . . Followed with another strong season in '81, catching 38 passes for 620 yards in 12 games, missing the final four contests with a sprained knee . . . His importance to the Chiefs aerial attack became evident when the passing game curtailed considerably during those four contests . . . Was on a record-setting pace in '82, but the strike-shortened season hindered him from setting personal highs and possible Chiefs marks . . . Made 40 receptions for 549 yards in just nine games, an average of 4.4 catches and 61.0 yards per outing . . . Caught at least three passes in every game in '82 and ranked seventh in the AFC and 10th in the NFL with his 40 receptions . . . Enjoyed a superb senior season at Missouri, catching 44 passes for 945 yards and nine touchdowns . . . His first three years were less productive as the Tigers used the wishbone formation, but the offense opened up his final year and was highlighted by his Big Eight record 207-yard receiving performance vs. Oklahoma State . . . A tremendous athlete, he played varsity baseball and basketball as a freshman at Hillcrest H.S. in Dalzell, S.C., and both teams won state championships . . . Football career didn't begin until he was a junior in high school . . . Became an immediate blue-chipper in football that year, plus he hit .450 in baseball, long-jumped 24-10½ and ran 46.0 quarter on a relay team . . . Majored in economics . . . Full name: Henry H. Marshall . . . Single.

STEPHONE PAIGE • 83
Wide Receiver Ht: 6-1 Wt: 180

How Acquired: Free Agent (1983)
College: Fresno State
NFL Experience: 2
Birthdate: October 15, 1981
Birthplace: Slidell, Louisiana
Residence: Fresno, California

Posted one of the top rookie performances in the NFL last year after making the Chiefs squad as a free agent . . . Was brought along slowly by Mackovic early in the campaign, but became an integral part of the Chiefs passing game during the second half of the season . . . Finished with 30 receptions for 528 yards, a team-leading 17.6 average per catch, and six touchdowns . . . Only two other rookie wide receivers in the NFL caught more passes than Paige's 30 last season — Chicago's Willie Gault and Detroit's Jeff Chadwick, both with 40 . . . The 30 catches is the most by a Chiefs rookie wide receiver since Chris Burford's 46 in the franchise's initial year of 1960 . . . Didn't play much until the fifth game vs. St. Louis, when he caught his first pass and gained 15 yards before fumbling . . . Came into his own quickly, catching four passes for 47 yards the following week at the L.A. Raiders, including his first touchdown on a 36-yard play . . . Caught three passes for 73 yards, all on the Chiefs first scoring drive, vs. the N.Y. Giants the next Sunday . . . Finished the season strongly, making 17 receptions for 326 yards and five touchdowns in the final five games . . . Top game was at San Diego, when he put on a dazzling show with five catches for 84 yards and two touchdowns . . . Also made five receptions for 74 yards and one TD at Dallas . . . Caught at least one pass in each of the final 12 games of '83 . . . Longest catch was 43-yarder in the season finale vs. Denver . . . Played in all 16 games . . . A superb showing in training camp earned Paige a roster spot as a rookie free agent, plus an injury to veteran WR J.T. Smith opened another spot at that position . . . Was one of two rookie free agents to make the Chiefs final 49-man roster in '83, the other being DB Van Jakes . . . Enjoyed a good two-year collegiate career at Fresno State, but was overshadowed by WR Henry Ellard, who was drafted in the second round in '83 by the L.A. Rams . . . Transferred from Saddleback (Calif.) Junior College, where he spent his first two years . . . Attended Long Beach Poly H.S. in Long Beach, Calif., where he played basketball and baseball in addition to football . . . Majored in Radio and TV and would like to work as a television producer in the future . . . Interests include playing Pac-Man video games . . . Full name: Stephone Paige . . . Married, wife Paula.

Served as a backup at inside linebacker for the Chiefs in '83 after being acquired via waivers the week prior to the regular season opener . . . Proved to be a valuable acquisition, especially early in the season when the Chiefs were hit with injuries at linebacker . . . Started the Monday night game vs. San Diego the second week of the campaign after injuries sidelined Gary Spani and Dave Klug and he responded with a 13-tackle performance . . . Played in all 16 games, although some were only on kicking teams . . . Made his first NFL interception in a Chiefs victory over St. Louis . . . Also had two tackles in that game to give him a season total of 15 . . . Ranked as the Chiefs second-leading tackler on kicking teams in '83 with a total of 20, behind Albert Lewis . . . Transition to Chiefs was aided by the fact he played in a complex defensive system with the Miami Dolphins during his first two NFL seasons . . . Joined the Dolphins as a free agent in '81 and played in all 16 regular season games and one playoff contest, making 17 tackles . . . Played in all nine games in '82, plus four playoff games including Super Bowl XVII, and made 11 tackles . . . Was one of the Dolphins top kicking teams players

. . . First NFL tryout was with the Raiders in '80, but he was released on their final roster cutdown . . . Was a four-year starter at defensive end for Virginia, compiling 226 tackles . . . Earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors as a senior after making 68 tackles as his team's co-captain . . . Attended Fairview H.S. in Erie, Penn., where he was a three-sport standout . . . Plays in many four-lineman situations and backs up veteran starters Art Still and Mike Bell at defensive end . . . Made his first NFL start in the '83 season opener vs. the Seattle Seahawks, replacing the injured Still . . . Played in all 16 games and finished with nine solo tackles and one assist . . . Tied for the team lead by recovering two fumbles . . . His first career fumble recovery came in a Chiefs win over the St. Louis Cardinals and the second came just two weeks later in a triumph over the N.Y. Giants . . . Had his first career interception at Denver, but it was nullified by an offside penalty . . . Is one of the Chiefs best kicking teams performers, finishing the '83 campaign with 13 total stops . . . A superb training camp in 1982 earned him a spot on the Chiefs roster as a free agent . . . Suffered a knee injury while working out on his own during the players' strike that year and he missed the rest of the season . . . Wasn't credited with an official year of NFL experience because he played in just two games . . . Was a 10th round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns in 1981, but was waived and sat out the entire season before joining the Chiefs in May of '82 . . . Walked on as a freshman at Oklahoma State and finished his career as an All-Big Eight defensive end as a senior . . . Accounted for 56 tackles and six quarterback sacks his senior year, plus he blocked three punts, four PAT's and one field goal on kicking teams . . . Majored in business management . . . Lived up to the Chiefs tradition of outstanding centers in his first year with the club in '83 . . . Was acquired during training camp in a trade with the San Diego Chargers for a future draft choice . . . Stepped in immediately as the Chiefs starter and was a stable force in the middle of the offensive line . . . Started 15 games, with his only miss coming at San Diego the next to last game of the season after finally giving way to a sprained right ankle he sustained two weeks earlier . . . Helped the Chiefs offensive line allow an average of one quarterback sack in every 15 pass attempts, which ranked eighth in the NFL and drastically improved from the league-worst 1:7.6 ratio it attained the previous season . . . In the season-ending win over Denver, he played the position of a third tight end on several plays due to an injury to TE Ed Beckman . . . Chiefs felt the need to obtain Rush in '83 because of Jack Rudnay's retirement at the end of the '82 campaign . . . Was playing behind All-Pro center Don Macek at San Diego at the time of the trade . . . Was the Chargers first round pick in the 1977 draft, the first center selected and the 24th player overall . . . Played in all 14 games his first season and was named to the NFL's All-Rookie Team . . . Suffered a knee injury in a preseason scrimmage in '78 and spent the entire season on injured reserve . . . Became San Diego's starting center in '79 for the final 10 regular season games (played in all 16) and one playoff contest when Macek had a pinched nerve in his neck . . . Started one game each in '80 and '81, while playing in 15 and 16 games, respectively . . . Also played in two playoff games both years . . . Played in all nine games in '82, plus two playoff contests . . . Career totals with Chargers and Chiefs are 85 games and 27 starts . . . Also was the deep-snapper on punts and placekicks at San Diego . . . Played collegiate football at Memphis State, where his coach was Richard Williamson, now the receivers coach for the Chiefs

. . . Was selected to several All-America teams and to the independent schools' All-South Team . . . Played in the Senior Bowl and the Blue-Gray Game . . . Attended Northwest H.S. in Clarksville, Tenn., where he was a defensive end . . . Sociology major . . . Is a certified scuba diver . . . Other hobbies include gunsmithing, karate, hunting, fishing and doing handywork . . . Full name: Robert Jeffrey Rush . . . Married, wife Patsy, son Robert Jeffrey, Jr. (2).

College: South Carolina
NFL Experience: 4
Birthdate: February 13, 1959
Birthplace: Newberry, South Carolina
Residence: Columbia, South Carolina

Is coming off his best season as a pro, becoming a full-time starter and assuming a vital role in Mackovic's pass-oriented offense . . . His '83 statistics more than doubled the totals he compiled his first two NFL years . . . Made 29 receptions for 247 yards and six touchdowns while starting all 16 games in an offense which threw more times than any other NFL team and ranked third in passing yardage . . . His six touchdown catches are the third-most in Chiefs history for a tight end, next to eight by Fred Arbanas in 1964 and seven by Walter White in 1976 . . . Caught at least one pass in all but one game in '83 and that was vs. the L.A. Raiders when he left the game in the first quarter with a sprained left ankle . . . Top effort was in a Monday night game vs. the San Diego Chargers, when he caught a career-high seven passes for 32 yards . . . Has played in all 41 games since being the Chiefs No. 1 draft choice in 1981 . . . Came to Kansas City with pressure to produce quickly because the team had problems at that position . . . A fractured finger kept him from playing in any preseason games and he went on to have a mediocre rookie campaign . . . Played in all 16 games, starting three, and made five receptions for 72 yards and one touchdown . . . Biggest day as a rookie was in his first NFL start, when he caught three passes for a career-high 44 yards at New England . . . A 26-yard catch vs. San Diego that year still ranks as the longest reception of his pro career . . . Started four of the nine games in '82, making eight receptions for 49 yards and one touchdown . . . Best game that year was vs. the Chargers, when he caught four passes for 24 yards . . . At South Carolina, he ranks 10th on the school's all-time career receptions charts with 63 for 787 yards and seven touchdowns . . . Was an AP honorable mention All-America honoree as a senior . . . Led the Gamecocks in receptions his senior season with 27 for 360 yards and he was the team's second-leading receiver as a junior and sophomore . . . Capped his final season with a seven-catch, 109-yard performance in the Gator Bowl . . . Selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game . . . Was a key blocker in South Carolina's system which enabled teammate George Rogers, now one of the NFL's top rushers at New Orleans, to win the Heisman Trophy in 1980 . . . Played in a two-tight end offense much of his collegiate career . . . First tight end chosen and 14th player overall in the '81 draft . . . Enjoys classical music, traveling and the theatre . . . Majored in health education . . . Is a substitute teacher in South Carolina during the off-season . . . Also helps with a summer youth camp for underprivileged children in that area . . . Full name: Willie Louis Scott, Jr. . . . Single.

Wide Receiver Ht: 6-2 Wt: 185

How Acquired: Free Agent (1978)
College: North Texas State
NFL Experience: 7
Birthdate: October 29, 1955
Birthplace: Leonard, Texas
Residence: Blue Springs, Missouri

Has been one of the most successful free agents in Chiefs history, but has been slowed a bit the past two years because of injuries . . . Played in nine games last year, missing the first six contests due to a preseason knee injury . . . Was used mostly as a punt returner in '83 and recorded an 8.1 average on 26 returns to rank ninth in the AFC . . . Saw limited action at wide receiver, making just seven receptions for 85 yards . . . Started vs. Cincinnati when Henry Marshall was sidelined and responded with a four-catch, 44-yard effort, his best of the year . . . Is the top punt returner in franchise history and ranks among the top receivers, with the bulk of his statistics compiled during the three-year span of 1979, '80 and '81 . . . Most of his fame has come as a punt returner, where he has reached All-Pro status and ranks 12th on the NFL's all-time punt return list (minimum of 75 returns required) with an 11.0 average and seventh in yardage with 1,990 . . . His 181 returns and 1,990 yards with the Chiefs both rank first on the club's career punt returning charts . . . Holds the top three spots in the Chiefs annals for number of punt returns and punt return yardage in a season . . . Also owns the longest punt return in franchise history, an 88-yarder vs. the Raiders in '79, and he compiled the most single game yardage that day with 141 yards . . . Began his assault on the Chiefs record books in '79, when he returned 58 punts for 612 yards . . . Both figures were tops on the club's all-time charts and were the best in the AFC that year, while his 10.6 average ranked second in the conference . . . Became an All-Pro in 1980 when he led the NFL in punt returning with a 14.5 average . . . His 40 returns and 581 yards boosted him into first as the Chiefs all-time punt returner in just his second full year with the team . . . In '81, he led the AFC in punt returns and yards, with 50 for 528, and was named an alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad . . . Was the only player to handle a punt return for the Chiefs from 1979-81 . . . Returned punts in just one game in '82 because of injuries, bringing back three for 26 yards vs. the L.A. Rams . . . As a receiver, he started 13 games during his first full year of '79 . . . Made 33 receptions, third-most on the team and first among wide receivers, for 444 yards that year . . . In 1980, he was the Chiefs second-leading receiver with 46 catches, one behind Marshall, for 655 yards while starting all 16 games . . . Best receiving year was '81, when he led the Chiefs with 63 receptions for 852 yards, snatching at least one pass in every game . . . Best single game of his career came vs. San Diego that year when he grabbed nine passes for 140 yards . . . Started the first 15 games in '81 until a rib injury forced him to miss part of the season finale . . . Played in just five games, starting three, in '82 and caught 10 passes for 168 yards . . . Top game was a six-catch, 101-yard performance at New Orleans in the only contest he was completely healthy . . . Pulled hamstring early in season and bruised sciatic nerve later in campaign were his injuries . . . Signed with the Chiefs as a free agent in mid-78 after being released by Washington . . . Had signed with the Redskins as a free agent and played six games in '78 as a defensive back, running back, wide receiver and kick returner . . . Played six games with Chiefs that year, strictly on kicking teams . . . Has three career 100-yard-plus receiving games (plus a 99-yard day) and three punt returning efforts over 100 yards . . . Wasn't drafted after a four-year collegiate career at North Texas State . . . Majored in recreation . . . Full name: John Thomas Smith . . . Married, wife Sandra.

Cornerback Ht: 5-10 Wt: 190

How Acquired: Trade (1983 - L.A. Rams)
College: Cal State - Fullerton
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: January 17, 1957
Birthplace: Columbus, Georgia
Residence: Anaheim, California

Will try to retain the starting right cornerback job which he won in his first year with the Chiefs in '83 . . . Was obtained in a preseason trade with the L.A. Rams a year ago and immediately stepped in as a starter . . . Started the first 10 games of the '83 season and had a total of 13, while playing in all 16 contests . . . Intercepted three passes for 99 yards, a team-leading 33.0 average, and one touchdown . . . His touchdown, the first of his NFL career, came in the season finale vs. Denver when he picked off QB John Elway's first pass of the game and rambled 58 yards . . . It gave the Chiefs a 7-0 lead and set the tone for a 48-17 rout . . . It was the longest interception return of his career and the longest for the Chiefs since a 70-yarder by Gary Barbaro in 1979 . . . His other interceptions came at Washington the third week of the season and vs. St. Louis, which he returned 39 yards out of the end zone, two weeks later . . . Also forced a fumble vs. St. Louis which LB Charles Jackson returned for a touchdown in the Chiefs 38-14 victory . . . Totaled 53 tackles (45 solos and eight assists) for the season, with a high of eight (all unassisted) at San Diego . . . Transition to the Chiefs was helped by the fact he was coached by defensive coordinator Bud Carson for two years with the Rams . . . Played in all 41 games in his three seasons with the Rams, but mostly on kicking teams . . . His only interception in L.A. came in a 1980 playoff loss to the Dallas Cowboys . . . Signed with the Rams as a free agent in '80 . . . His trade to the Chiefs included RB Jewerl Thomas and a draft choice (fifth in '84 which was LB Jeff Paine) in exchange for QB Steve Fuller and CB Eric Harris . . . Was a starter for two of his three years at Cal State - Fullerton after transferring from San Diego State . . . Attended Kearny H.S. in San Diego . . . Enjoys playing golf . . . Full name: Lucious Irvin Smith . . . Married, wife Kathy, daughters Miranda (9) and Milissa (3).

A vital cog in the middle of the defense who has made more tackles than any other Chiefs defender the past six years . . . Few players in the NFL have matched his productivity during that span, as he has averaged 9.5 tackles per game . . . Is coming off another strong season, although he played in just 10 games after suffering the first major injury of his football career . . . Suffered strained knee ligaments in the final preseason game at Chicago and spent the first six regular season weeks on injured reserve . . . First action came vs. the N.Y. Giants, then he started the final nine contests . . . Still managed 90 total tackles to rank fourth on the team and made a career-high three quarterback sacks for a minus 25 yards . . . Nailed down at least 10 tackles in four consecutive games: 14 vs. Cincinnati, 10 at Dallas, 12 at Seattle and 14 vs. Buffalo . . . Recovered a fumble at Denver and returned it five yards to set up the Chiefs first touchdown . . . Blocked PAT attempt vs. Cincinnati, the second of his career . . . Impressive career totals include 80 games, 78 starts, 757 total tackles (516 solos), 7½ sacks and nine fumble recoveries . . . Calls the Chiefs defensive signals and is considered one of the better inside linebackers in the league although he has yet to earn Pro Bowl status . . . During his first four pro campaigns, he averaged just over 150 tackles per season and was the Chiefs leader each year . . . Stepped in as a starter immediately as a rookie in '78, compiling 144 tackles and recovering a fumble (plus a PAT block) . . . Registered the most tackles of his career in '79 with 157, which included a career-high 115 solo stops . . . His 1980 totals included 149 tackles, a team-leading four fumble recoveries and the only interception of his career, which he returned 47 yards for a touchdown in a one-point win over Houston . . . In 1981, he was an UPI All-AFC honorable mention selection after a solid year in which he recorded 153 tackles . . . Made at least six tackles in every game that year and contributed 10 or more stops seven times, including a 16-tackle effort in a season-opening win over Pittsburgh . . . Iced a come-from-behind victory over the Raiders with a 91-yard fumble return for a touchdown in the final minute . . . Played in eight of the nine games in '82, missing the season finale due to a neck injury, breaking a 60-game consecutive start string . . . Finished second to Art Still with 64 tackles and totaled at least six tackles in each game for the second straight season . . . Was a three-time All-Big Eight linebacker at Kansas State and was named to the conference all-decade team in 1979 . . . Amassed 545 tackles in four varsity seasons and became the Wildcats' only consensus All-America . . . Played in the East-West Shrine Game, Hula Bowl and Japan Bowl all-star games following his senior year in '77 . . . Majored in personal management . . . Attended Manhattan H.S. in Manhattan, Kan. . . . Conducts a youth football camp in Wichita, along with teammate Mike Bell, during each summer . . . Enjoys fishing and golf . . . Full name: Gary L. NEW TURF AT ARROWHEAD

After 12 years, the original Tartan Turf at Arrowhead Stadium has been replaced with Astro-Turf 8 by Monsanto. The new turf, along with a rubberized track, was installed this past July. The original turf, used by the Chiefs since the stadium was opened in 1972, had been in use longer than any other NFL stadium surface.

SUPPLEMENTAL DRAFT

The National Football League held its first-ever supplemental draft in June of 1984. The three-round draft selected players who were eligible for the regular '84 draft, but had signed with either the United States Football League or Canadian Football League. The Chiefs three choices were as follows:

1	Mark Adickes	T	Baylor
2	Lupe Sanchez	CB	UCLA
3	Garcia Lane	CB/KR	Ohio State

CHIEF-PRODUCING COLLEGES

Of the 373 players on the Chiefs/Texans all-time roster through the 1983 season, the college which has produced the most is Louisiana State University, with 11. Next in line is Miami (Fla.) with nine, then Kansas, Prairie View, Southern Methodist and Tennessee State, all which have provided eight players.

1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
DALLAS at HOUSTON
December 23, 1962

A contest that moved the infant American Football League into the national consciousness proved to be the first of three AFL titles for Hank Stram's Texans/Chiefs.

Following second place finishes in each of the league's first two seasons, the Texans ran away with the AFL West championship in 1962. Dallas finished 11-3, a full four games in front, and was matched with the Houston Oilers, also 11-3, who had won the AFL title in 1960 and '61 over the Los Angeles, then San Diego Chargers.

The Texans, paced by a pair of touchdowns from Abner Haynes, took a 17-0 halftime advantage. Haynes scored first on a 28-yard pass from Len Dawson and then on a two-yard run after Tommy Brooker had given Dallas a 3-0 first-quarter advantage with a 16-yard field goal.

But the momentum quickly shifted to the Oilers in the second half. George Blanda, then a "young" 35-year-old, passed 15 yards to Willard Dewveall for a touchdown and kicked a 31-yard field goal before Charley Tolar burst over from the one to tie the game at 17-17 in the fourth quarter.

The two teams then went into the first sudden death overtime in AFL annals. The Texans won the toss and Stram elected to kick off, maintaining his defense could hold the Oilers long enough for Dawson to get the ball in good field position. Herein came the famous "kick to the clock" episode in which Texans captain Haynes inadvertantly elected for his team to kick into the wind instead of having it as the consolation for not receiving the football.

Neither club mounted a serious challenge in the early stages of overtime, but as the fifth quarter was drawing to a close, Dallas defensive end Bill Hull intercepted a Blanda pass and returned to midfield. Dawson then passed to Jack Spikes for 10 yards, Spikes, the game's most valuable player, ran for 19 and the Texans were in field goal range. At the 2:54 mark of the sixth quarter, Brooker kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Texans a 20-17 victory and the American Football League championship. The game lasted 77 minutes and 54 seconds and would be the longest in pro football history until the Chiefs and Miami Dolphins played over 82 minutes nearly a decade later in 1971.

1966 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
KANSAS CITY at BUFFALO
January 1, 1967

With a berth in Super Bowl I as the prize, the Chiefs visited ancient War Memorial Stadium for a New Year's Day clash with the defending AFL champion Buffalo Bills.

The game, played in frigid, subzero temperatures, produced its first break on the opening kickoff. Jerrel Wilson recovered a Bills fumble on the Buffalo 31-yard line. Three plays later, Len Dawson passed 29 yards to Fred Arbanas for the first touchdown and a 7-0 Kansas City lead.

Buffalo, though, tied the game near the end of the opening period when Jack Kemp hit Elbert Dubenion on a 69-yard pass play. Few thought it would be the Bills final score of the day.

The Chiefs defense stiffened and Dawson led the offense to 10 second-quarter points. Otis Taylor caught a 29-yard touchdown pass and Mike Mercer added a 32-yard field goal, aided by a 72-yard pass interception by Johnny Robinson.

Mike Garrett then applied the coup de grace for the Chiefs by scoring on runs of one and 18 yards. Kansas City won its second AFL title in four years and awaited the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl I.

SUPER BOWL I
KANSAS CITY vs GREEN BAY
January 15, 1967

Representing themselves and the American Football League in the first championship match with the National Football League, the Chiefs played well for one half before bowing to the supremacy of the Green Bay Packers.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, one of the great pro football teams of all time, won Super Bowl I by a 35-10 score. But the Packers held a slim 14-10 advantage at the half before the game turned on one play in the third quarter.

Green Bay opened the scoring when Bart Starr passed 37 yards to Max McGee, McGee making a remarkable one-handed catch for the touchdown. Len Dawson tied the game for the Chiefs when he passed to Curtis McClinton for a second period touchdown. The Packers then went back on top, 14-7, before Mike Mercer kicked a 31-yard field goal just before the half ended.

The Chiefs momentum carried over into the third quarter as Kansas City moved to a first down on its initial possession. But then the game's key play, one that doomed the underdog Chiefs, unfolded when Willie Wood intercepted a Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas at midfield. Wood returned all the way to the Chiefs 5-yard line, where Elijah Pitts ran for a third Green Bay touchdown and an insurmountable 21-10 lead.

1969 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
KANSAS CITY at OAKLAND
January 4, 1970

On the day the American Football League played the final game of its 10-year history, the Kansas City Chiefs became the only three-time AFL champion. The Chiefs, through a curious playoff system, played their Western Division rivals, the Oakland Raiders, for the league's last title. Oakland, which had won the AFL West and held a pair of regular season wins over the Chiefs, went down to a 17-7 defeat, the first of several AFL/AFC title game defeats that have bedeviled the Raiders during the past decade.

The contest, unlike other Raiders-Chiefs matchups, was marked by turnovers. The two clubs managed one first-half touchdown apiece, Oakland's on a three-yard run by Charlie Smith, Kansas City responding with a one-yard plunge by Wendell Hayes after Len Dawson had hit on passes of 14 yards to Otis Taylor and 41 yards to Frank Pitts.

In the third quarter, George Blanda twice missed field goal attempts that would have moved Oakland in front. Midway through the period, Kansas City mounted a drive from its own 2-yard line, the field position a result of a fumble which luckily was recovered before it bounded into the end zone. Dawson and Taylor pulled Kansas City out of the hole with a 35-yard pass and run play. Robert Holmes added 23 more on a flare pass in the left flat and then scored the go-ahead touchdown five plays later.

At this point, the game became a defensive struggle. Led by defensive charges from the entire front four of Aaron Brown, Buck Buchanan, Curley Culp and Jerry Mays, the Chiefs continually harassed Raiders quarterback Daryle Lamonica. But the turnovers which would plague both teams were only beginning.

In the fourth quarter, turnovers gave Oakland the football three times in Kansas City territory. Three times the Chiefs responded with interceptions, one each by Jim Marsalis, Jim Kearney and Emmitt

Thomas. Thomas' steal was his second of the day and covered 62 yards to the Oakland 18-yard line. Jan Stenerud's field goal provided a 17-7 lead and a return to the Super Bowl.

SUPER BOWL IV
KANSAS CITY vs MINNESOTA
January 11, 1970

Kansas City's finest sports hour concluded at 5:20 in the afternoon of Sunday, January 11, 1970, when the Chiefs defeated the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, for the world championship of pro football.

The Chiefs, who finished 11-3 on the season and defeated the New York Jets and Oakland in the playoffs, closed out their first decade as the outstanding team in the American Football League which, with Super Bowl IV, came to an end. Beginning in 1970, the two leagues merged, with the AFL becoming the American Football Conference of the NFL.

Minnesota, a prohibitive favorite, was 12-2 during the regular season and at one point had won 12 games in succession.

The Chiefs took an early lead when Jan Stenerud kicked a 48-yard first quarter field goal. Stenerud's kick remains a Super Bowl record. He then followed with field goals of 32 and 25 yards for a 9-0 lead.

Kansas City received the first break in the game when the Vikings Charlie West fumbled a kickoff and Remi Prudhomme recovered at the Minnesota 19-yard line. After an eight-yard loss, Len Dawson handed off to Wendell Hayes, who rambled for 13 yards up the middle on a draw play. A 10-yard pass to Otis Taylor gave the Chiefs a first down at the 4. Three plays later Mike Garrett burst off-tackle for five yards and a touchdown. The Chiefs held a 16-0 halftime lead, stunning the Vikings and a nationwide television audience.

Minnesota mounted a mild third-quarter comeback when Dave Osborn scored from four yards out to cut the margin to 16-7. But any hopes the Vikings had of getting closer were dashed by Otis Taylor, who lived up to his big-play reputation repeatedly through that season.

Dawson hit Taylor on a short hitch pattern, but when Earsell Mackbee missed the initial tackle, Taylor was loose down the right sideline, highstepping his way to a 46-yard touchdown. After three quarters, the Chiefs again held a 16-point lead.

As was so often the case in 1969, the defense came to the fore. Minnesota had the ball three times in the final period and, as in the Oakland game the previous week, the Chiefs snuffed out all three chances with interceptions. Middle linebacker Willie Lanier picked off a Joe Kapp pass to halt a rally at the Chiefs 34-yard line. Later on, Johnny Robinson, playing with what turned out to be three broken ribs, grabbed another errant Kapp throw. In the game's closing minutes, Emmitt Thomas intercepted his third pass of the playoffs. The Chiefs then ran out the clock to capture the AFL's second consecutive Super Bowl triumph.

The American Football League's 10-year history had come to an end with the Kansas City Chiefs its most successful team. The 1970s would usher in a new era for the Chiefs, an era that would produce noted changes as the club sought to regain its position as world champion.

MACK LEE HILL AWARD

DAVID LUTZ

Each year since 1966, the Chiefs veteran players have selected a recipient for the Mack Lee Hill Award. It is a tribute to the late Mack Lee Hill, an outstanding running back who played for the Chiefs in 1964 and 1965. He was described as a man who played as much with his heart as he did with his driving legs in the early days of the American Football League.

In memory and tribute to Hill, the award is presented annually to the Chiefs rookie, who, as the inscription on the trophy reads — "best exemplifies the spirit of the late Mack Lee Hill . . . the man with the giant heart and quiet way." In selecting the recipient, the Chiefs veterans look for a first-year player who has displayed the spirit and attitude of Mack Lee Hill.

The 1983 winner of the award was tackle David Lutz. The Chiefs second round draft choice in '83, Lutz won the starting right tackle job in his first training camp and went on to become the only Chiefs offensive lineman to start all 16 games. The 6-5, 285-pounder from Georgia Tech improved rapidly as the season progressed and by season's end, he put together some sterling performances against some of the NFL's best defensive ends. Lutz helped the Chiefs offensive line reduce its sacks-per-pass attempt ratio in half from the previous year.

Running back Mack Lee Hill bursts forward for yardage against the Raiders during his memorable two-year pro career with the Chiefs.

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The highest honor a pro football personality can receive is to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Two of the people who have contributed most to the Kansas City Chiefs organization, owner Lamar Hunt and linebacker Bobby Bell, have been so recognized.

Hunt, who founded the American Football League in 1960 with his Dallas Texans franchise, became the first AFLer to be voted into the Hall in 1972. Described during his induction ceremonies as the "architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream," Hunt has been and still is considered one of the most prominent figures in professional football. He serves as the president of the American Football Conference and beginning in 1984, the conference championship game trophy will carry his name.

Bell became the first Chiefs player to be enshrined in the Hall when he was chosen with the class of 1983. Possibly the best outside linebacker to ever play the game, Bell was a superb athlete and actually began his pro career at defensive end because the Chiefs needed help at that position when he was drafted in the seventh round in 1963. By the time he retired in '74, Bell had earned All-AFL or All-AFC designation for eight consecutive years. During that span, he starred on two AFL Championship teams, played in Super Bowls I and IV, and was named to the all-decade team in '69.

CHIEFS RADIO NETWORK

BROADCAST TEAM—The Chiefs announce team again in 1984 is Wayne Larrivee (left) and Bill Grigsby. Larrivee will handle the play-by-play with Grigsby providing the color commentary. As in each of the Chiefs 22 seasons in Kansas City, the broadcasts will be carried by 81/KCMO. The Chiefs will also be heard throughout the Midwest under broadcast rights awarded to the Mutual Broadcasting System. Larrivee, a New England native, begins his seventh year as the Chiefs radio voice. He previously broadcast University of Iowa football. A popular figure on the Kansas City scene, Grigsby's broadcast credits include the Chiefs plus major league baseball.

ARROWHEAD STADIUM

Arrowhead Stadium, home of the Kansas City Chiefs, is one of the finest facilities in the NFL. It is part of the Harry S. Truman Sports Complex, which also includes a 42,000-seat baseball stadium. Arrowhead was dedicated August 12, 1972 at the inaugural preseason game. Since, 6,378,945 spectators have passed through the stadium turnstiles to enjoy Chiefs football.

Level Breakdown: (78,097)

Upper Level — 33,823; Club Level — 10,207; Lower Level — 34,003; Between End Zones — 50,000.

CHIEFS CLUB

Chiefs Official Booster Organization

DR. JIM HALL

The Chiefs Club is the official booster organization for the Kansas City Chiefs and has long been regarded as one of the most active support groups in the National Football League.

With its official membership numbering 2,500, the Chiefs Club is active in ticket drives, special events, charter trips to away games and numerous civic and charitable functions in the greater Kansas City area.

Dr. Jim Hall is the new president of the Chiefs Club for the 1984 season. He has been an active Chiefs Club member and a red coater since the mid-sixties.

Instrumental in a big civic push that solidified the Chiefs franchise in Kansas City in the early sixties, the Chiefs Club continues to sponsor several civic functions each year.

Major among the events are Kansas City's famous "101 Banquet," an annual salute to the outstanding players and coaches in the AFC and NFC and the annual Chiefs Club Kickoff Luncheon. The "101 Banquet" is a black tie awards dinner held in February and is recognized as one of pro football's finest awards dinners. The annual Kickoff Luncheon, staged the week of the Chiefs regular season home opener, salutes the 45-man Chiefs team at a special civic luncheon.

In addition to hosting special in-season dinners with Chiefs coaches and players, the booster club stages several off-season social events and participates and coordinates two collegiate scholarships for area youths —the Len Dawson Scholarship and the Bruce Rice Scholarship.
